Policy Has Big Role in Elections

Democrats' Stand Trial on Foreign Relations as Drive in Congress Nears Ballot

War Has Bearing

Korean Reverses Might Help Elect G.O.P. Candidates

By JACK BELL
(A. P. Political Reporter)

The 1950 congressional campaign winds up today on a foreign policy note which made President Truyman's once hotly debated "Fair Deal" program virtually a forgotten issue.

In final appeals to the voters, both major parties stressed international questions despite strong indications that many Senate and House races—as well as some governorships—are likely to be settled on strictly local situations.

The consensus of political observers seemed to be that the results of tomorrow's balloting would provide no change in Democratic control of the two Houses of Congress.

However, the experts left room for a last-minute crystallization of sentiment that might be reflected in a surprising trend. The possibility that the recent adverse turn of the Korean war would affect the voters' decision was not discounted by either party.

To be elected are 32 state governors, 36 U. S. Senators and 432 U. S. representatives—the full House membership except for three Maine seats, filled by Republicans in a Sept. 11 election.

May Cast 42 Million

State election and party officials have estimated that some 42,000,000 votes may be cast. That would be a record for a non-presidential year. Prospects were that the weather would be favorable in most sections of the country.

Senator Taft of Ohio, known widely as "Mr. Republican," was the latest to add his voice to the chorus on international issues which President Truman stressed with his Saturday night speech in St. Louis and which Harold E. Stassen promptly took up for the Republicans.

Taft charged in a transcribed radio speech broadcast by seven Ohio stations yesterday that President Truman had "killed" the bi-partisan foreign policy shortly after the 1948 presidential election.

Climaxing a battle with State Auditor Joseph Ferguson in the Ohio Senate race, Taft also charged the Truman administration with responsibility for high prices and high taxes.

But this seemed only a side issue to Taft's assertion that the Truman administration "has lost the peace after the American people won the war."

In his single-shot campaign speech at St. Louis, Mr. Truman had lashed out at those he called the "isolationists" in the Republican party. He said that a GOP vote tomorrow would be one for "national suicide" in the face of Communist world imperialism.

In reply, Stassen charged the

Dewey Carries on Marathon, Reports Gangster 'Slush Fund'

Governor Talks on Radio, Television and Answers Questions; Says G.O.P. Outspent by 6 to 1

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey charged today that the "Flynn-Tammany-Gangster Costello machine" had raised the "biggest slush fund in history" and was outspending the Republicans six to one.

Opening an 18-hour reelection campaign marathon over radio and television, the governor asserted that in three weeks in New York city alone the Democrats had spent $230,000 for newspaper and radio advertising.

During the same period, he added, the Republicans spent "all we had—$40,000. They're outspending us six to one."

The governor voiced the campaign spending charges in answer to a question telephoned to WOR's television studio where he began his marathon appearance at 6 a. m. (E.S.T.). The questioner wanted to know where the money was coming from to finance the 18-hour program.

"My neighbors in Pawling," replied Dewey. "A village of 2,000 . . . went out and raised a large part of the money and volunteer women around the state went out and raised the rest."

Earlier, Dewey attacked the Truman administration's policies on China and Korea. He called "very bad news" Gen. Douglas MacArthur's announcement that Chinese Communists had entered the Korean fighting.

"This very great tragedy," the Governor said, could have been averted "if we had supported Chiang Kai-Shek and had not let his government fall, or if we had not cleared out of Korea."

"The final catastrophe was that in January the State Department announced that Korea was not in our area of defense," he said.

Close by was a corps of Republican volunteers, mobilized to answer telephones and relay questions called in by listeners.

First Question

The first telephone question was, "how does it feel to get up so early?"

"As a matter of fact," the Governor replied, "I'm quite used to it."

On his Pawling, N. Y., farm Dewey said, he often rose early to help with the milking.

"That's how you get to know your cows," he added.

Told that 350 questions had been received in the first hour of the broadcast series, Dewey exclaimed, "Oh, Boy!"

The broadcasts will keep the GOP gubernatorial candidate talking almost steadily until midnight. Mobile TV units roamed the city to handle street corner questions from citizens and voters.

Between questions, the governor commented on national, international, state and local issues.

The first talk was a joint television-radio broadcast over WOR-TV, the NBC state radio net, and station WMCA.

Other Talks Planned

In addition, Dewey planned broadcasts over the state nets of the American Broadcasting Company and the Mutual Broacasting System.

On television, in addition to WOR-TV, he planned appearances on WCBS-TV and WABD in New York, and the NBC television network including Syracuse, Utica and Schenectady.

Some broadcasts will be over both media.

Dewey spent an easy Sunday

U. S. May Tell Sino Reds to Pull Army Or Lose Big Dam

Assurances of Continued Agreement Would Accompany Note on Troop Use

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP) — The United States may tell Communist China to stop sending troops to aid the Korean Reds or face destruction of the great Suino dam, a major source of power for China.

The report that such a warning is under serious consideration came simultaneously with release of a special communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, United Nations commander in the Far East, noting the presence of "alien Communist forces" in the Korean fighting.

Any such threat against the power installations presumably would be accompanied by assurances that if the Chinese Communists refrain from further intervention the agreements under which Manchuria and Korea share the Suino power will be observed and maintained.

The dam, on the Yalu river which forms the Korea-Manchuria border for a long distance, is within easy reach of American bombers. It has a power capacity of 700,000 kilowatts. That is about two-thirds the capacity of the Hoover Dam on the Colorado river. It was built during the Japanese occupation of Manchuria.

May Fight for Dam

Any combined warning-assurance on the Suino installations would be given on the assumption that Chinese fears for the power facilities may be a main reason why Red forces from the north are now fighting in Korea.

If such a move is made it is considered likely to go through the United Nations, which is sponsoring the action against North Korean Communist aggressors.

Suino is about 75 miles from the mouth of the Yalu river, much less than an hour's flying time from U. S. bomber bases in Korea and within range of B-29 superfortresses flying from Okinawa.

U.N. forces were within striking distance of it when they began to encounter fresh forces from China, variously estimated at from three to six divisions or 60,000 to 120,000 men.

Another big dam at Nahochin, all on the Manchurian side of the border, is also well within air striking range. It has a capacity of 235,000 kilowatts.

Killed in Car Crash

Briarcliffe Manor, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Eunice Tierney, 23, of Brooklyn, was killed and two others injured today when a car smashed into a stone bridge here. Police said the right side of the car, driven by Vernon Slaunwhite, 46, of Levittown, N. Y., was ripped off when the vehicle left Taconic State Parkway and hit the bridge. Slaumwhite and his wife, Marie, also 46, were injured, his wife critically. After the accident, another car, driven by a Stewart Field, N. Y., soldier, Emanuel Albuquerque, rammed into the rear end of the wrecked car, but no injuries resulted, police said.

Metropolitan Season Opens

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera opens its 1950-51 season tonight, an event which regularly draws a glittering first-nighter crowd of celebrities and socialites. Seats are sold out for the initial production—a performance of Verdi's "Don Carlo," with Swedish tenor Jussi Bjoerling in the leading role. Four new singers, Argentine soprano Delia Rigal, Italian mezzo-soprano Fedora Barbieri, Italian bass Cesare Siepi and American soprano Lucine Amara will make their Met debut in the opera.

Quads Are Born

Georgetown, British Guinana, Nov. 6 (AP)—Quadruplets, all girls, were born to Agatha Sulton, 38-year-old farmer's wife, at Georgetown Public Hospital last night. The babies weighed from three to three and a half pounds. Mrs. Sulton and all the babies were reported doing well.

Denial Is Given Of Underestimate On Reds' Strength

Spokesman Refutes Idea G-2 Was Caught by Surprise in North

Tokyo, Nov. 6 (AP)—General MacArthur's intelligence spokesman emphatically denied today that U.S. intelligence officers under-estimated the remaining strength of the Red Koreans.

The North Korean troop total was placed last week at 20,000 men.

The spokesman said intelligence long has carried on its books the numbers of units not included in the 20,000 figure. He said these units never had been encountered in battle nor had yielded any prisoners.

Their existence was suspected from other sources of information, he said, but never was confirmed.

The officer said an estimate of North Korean strength, not including the "alien" units (headquarters description of Chinese Red troops in North Korea) in battle, cannot be given at present.

He said "alien reinforcements" in fair strength still are coming into the battle zones.

Asked "isn't it a fact that G-2 (intelligence) was caught by surprise in the northwest?" he replied:

"No I cannot go along with that statement."

Recent setbacks suffered by United Nations troops were not accomplished by a Red Korean force of 20,000 men.

The North Koreans hit back with surprisingly strong forces—even aside from the Chinese reinforcements.

No Longer on Offensive

The spokesman conceded that, in the overall situation, the U.N. troops no longer are completely on the offensive, as was said last week.

The officer said the Red Koreans are well trained and led, maneuver smartly and have fairly good morale. He said some units, badly chewed up in the earlier stages of the fighting, were reconstituted and sent back into the lines.

The spokesman said the 82-mm. rockets the Reds are using are not the Russian "Katushas" of World War II. Those now being encountered, he said, apparently launch 36 or 42 rockets and have a range of more than three miles.

A plans and operations spokesman indicated American troops would not be leaving Korea in the immediate future because of mopping up operations in the south and the growing threat in the northwest.

Markets to Be Closed

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Financial and commodity markets throughout the United States will be closed Tuesday, Nov. 7, Election Day.

Korean Reverses Put Stocks on Skid Of $4 Per Share

Trades Take Gloomy View of News, Particularly MacArthur Note on Situation

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Wall street had a bad case of war nerves today as a result of latest news from Korea.

Stock quotations plunged and major commodities for future delivery shot ahead on the nation's various exchanges.

Violent price swings reflected sharp concern over possible repercussions of General MacArthur's formal charge that Chinese Communist forces are fighting U.N. troops in Korea.

The Stock Exchange was flooded with sell orders. Prices cracked $1 to more than $4 a share as jittery traders tossed big blocks of stock on the market.

The crush of business was so heavy that the exchange resorted to the unusual procedure of flashing prices directly to the ticker tape. Nearly an hour elapsed before trading slowed to a more orderly pace.

Steels, motors, rubber, rails and radio-television were hardest hit, among them U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Goodyear, Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central, Radio Corp. and Zenith

The specter of another war shadowed commodity futures markets in New York and Chicago. Prices moved up swiftly as traders considered the latest threat to world supply lines.

In the Chicago grain pit wheat gained more than five cents a bushel at one time, corn seven cents, rye eight cents, and soybeans 10 cents.

Cotton at New York rose around $1.50 a bale. Rubber soared the daily limit of two cents a pound, cocoa one cent a pound, and sugar one-half cent a pound.

City Hall to Close

All offices and departments in the city hall except the police department will be closed all day tomorrow, Election Day, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk has announced.

Situation Said to Be GravestOne

Intervention in Korea Branded as One of Most Offensive Acts of Lawlessness

May Ask Decision

Diplomats May Request U.N. Security Council for Action

Seoul, Nov. 6 (AP)—General MacArthur notified the United Nations Security Council today that Chinese Reds are fighting in Korea.

"The United Nations forces are meeting a new foe," MacArthur said in a special report transmitted at Lake Success by the Chief U. S. delegate, Warren R. Austin.

"The United Nations are presently in hostile contact with Chinese Communist military units," the report said. It gave a detailed account of specific Chinese Red units which have been identified.

In an extraordinary communique issued only a few hours earlier MacArthur referred only to "alien Communist forces" and branded their intervention in Korea as "one of the most offensive acts of international lawlessness" in history.

Tells of Concentration

The U. N. commander's communique said "a great concentration" of Communist divisions was massed in Manchuria. He called this threat "a matter of the gravest international significance."

Sources close to him spoke even more ominously. They said the start of a third world war may hinge on Red China's reaction to MacArthur's accusation.

Communist China might not answer MacArthur, they said, except by sending in more Red divisions.

President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea said he believes Soviet Russia ordered the Chinese Reds into Korea

Diplomats predicted the United States might ask the U. N. Security Council to act.

In Kansas City, a spokesman said Sunday that President Truman had no comment.

World Greatly Concerned

World capitals viewed the tense situation with mounting concern.

Fifty-three non-Communist nations are sponsors of the U.N.'s first armed peace enforcement action, waged against North Koreans who invaded the republic June 25.

A number of these countries have supplied troops, air units and warships for the Korean action.

Theoretically, Red Korea has fought alone. Actually, her troops were armed with vast amounts of Russian weapons. Russian-made planes have fought allied air power. And the Red Chinese fighting in Korea already have been estimated at between three and six divisions.

Their appearance last week drove back the plunging rush of Allied forces toward the Manchurian border. One South Korean regiment already had reached the boundary. An American tank-led column then was within a few miles of Manchuria.

Allies Fight Grimly

But Allied troops in the northwest today were waging a grim defensive fight on the Chongchon river line less than 50 miles from the old Red Korean capital of Pyongyang.

This represented a retreat of 50 miles or more in the face of heavy Communist attacks.

In the northeast, however, an American regiment was striking in zero weather within 24 miles of the Manchurian border. This force reported no Red resistance.

MacArthur said the Communist aggressor has massed "a great concentration of possible reinforcing divisions with adequate supply behind the privileged sanctuary of the adjacent Manchurian border."

Allied military intelligence has estimated 300,000 Chinese Red forces along the Manchurian border. One million Communist troops are estimated to be within striking distance.

MacArthur added:

"Whether and to what extent these reserves will be moved forward to reinforce units now com-

McGee Supports Marbletown Board in Property Purchase

Says War Orders To Boom Industry

Marshall Planning 4-Year Program on Military Production

Sea Island, Ga., Nov. 6 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall says military orders will be great enough in the months immediately ahead to take up any slack in industry caused by the government's emergency controls.

He gave that assurance yesterday to 90 industrial leaders attending a business advisory council of the Department of Commerce.

His speech was off the record, as were all the council sessions, but reporters learned Marshall said:

He is drawing up a four-year program of military production calling for a steady rate of build-up to rearm the United States

Comptroller Aide Says Action Was Taken Under Town Statute

Cushman Mc Gee, deputy comptroller of the State of New York, has written a letter to the Marbletown Democratic Committee supporting the action of the Town Board in acquiring a property in Stone Ridge for town purposes.

Mc Gee says in a letter sent to Paul M. Sturges, Democratic town chairman, that since the building was acquired pursuant to the provisions of the Town Law for "general town purposes and pursuant to the law applicable to buildings for such purposes" the action of the town board was legal. Mc Gee states that the property was acquired under the Town Law and not under the Highway Law, and therefore no referendum was necessary.

Based on Supposition

The controversy which has been waged in the town of Marbletown for the past several months over the right of the town board to acquire the former Stokes garage property without first holding a referendum, was based by the Marbletown Democratic Committee on a supposition that the property was acquired principally for highway garage purposes. Comptroller Frank Moore was requested to give an opinion on the matter and last February did send a communication in which the law was cited. Lloyd R. LeFever, town attorney, also wrote an opinion in which he stated the purchase was under provisions of the Town Law and no referendum was necessary.

Recently the Democratic Committee of the town queried the Election Day Rules Prohibit Sale of Liquor and Wine

John F. O'Connell, Chairman of the New York State Liquor Authority, in a statement issued today, called the attention of all retail licensees to those provisions of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law which prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages on Election Day, Tuesday, November 7th, 1950 during the polling hours, 6:00 A.M. to 7:00 P.M., statewide.

Section 105 (14c) of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law provides that "no premises licensed to sell liquor and/or wine for off-premises consumption (package stores) shall be permitted to remain open on any day of a general or primary election during the hours when the polls are open."

Section 106 (5c) of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law provides that "no alcoholic beverages shall be sold, offered for sale or given away upon any premises licensed to sell alcoholic beverages at retail for on-premises consumption on any day of a general or primary election during the hours when the polls are open."

Grocery stores and drug stores licensed to sell beer at retail for off-premises consumption are prohibited from selling beer while the polls are open in those counties where the Local Alcoholic Beverage Control Board has restricted its sale on Election Day.

There are no restrictions in this respect as regards sales of beer for off-premises consumption by licensed stores in Ulster county.

Typographical Union Says 'No' to Mediator's Proposal

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Local 6 of the AFL International Typographical Union—New York city's "Big Six Printers Union"—has rejected a $7 wage increase "package" proposal submitted by a federal mediator to both the printers and the publishers of 12 New York city daily newspapers.

Five other printing craft unions accepted the proposal in membership meetings yesterday and three craft unions still must vote on it.

William Mapel, vice president of the Publishers Association of New York, said the publishers would sign contracts with the unions that accepted the proposal.

The printers held a heated, three-hour meeting before voting down the proposal. Francis G. Barrett, president of the local, argued for approval.

The "package" proposal called for an immediate weekly wage increase of $3.50 plus a $1.50 contribution to the welfare fund.

Another wage boost of two dollars is to become effective Nov. 1, 1951 for the second year of the two-year contract.

The formula also calls for cost-of-living increases for every two-point increase in the Bureau of Labor Statistics consumer price index in excess of four-percentage points over the Sept. 15, 1950, level.

The proposal was offered to some 3,500 newspaper printers and 6,500 members of other unions, representing paper handlers, deliverers, mailers, machinists,

Bridges Register Gain Over 1949; Ferry Use Greater

Travel over the three bridges under control of the New York State Bridge Authority went up by 38,426 vehicles and 8.17 per cent in October this year over October, 1949, the authority reported today.

The Rip Van Winkle bridge near Catskill had the highest percentage increase. It showed a gain of 10,199 in vehicles or 9.68 per cent.

The Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry with a total of 8,061 vehicles was ahead of last year by 460, but was 472 under last year with a total of 2,218 in pedestrian passenger travel.

The totals were: Rip Van Winkle, 115,611, this year; 105,412 in 1949; Mid-Hudson, 266,252 this year, a gain of 20,181 over the 1949 total of 246,071 or 8.28 per cent; Bear Mountain, 127,075, a gain of 8,046 or 6.76 per cent over the 119,029 of October, 1949.

Connelly for Appointments; Plunket Refuses Comment

Vincent G. Connelly, Republican city chairman, today issued the following statement in support of continued appointment of members of the local education board, including among his reasons his belief that "the appointive system has worked out well in Kingston."

Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic county chairman, said he had no comment to make today on the question which appears on a separate ballot in tomorrow's election.

Connelly's statement:

I have been asked my views on the question to be voted upon tomorrow as to whether or not the mayor of the City of Kingston shall continue to appoint members of the Board of Education.

My recommendation of a "Yes" vote tomorrow has no connection whatsoever with my being at the present time Republican city chairman. Since the Republican party in the City of Kingston has not adopted any resolution on the question, no one can say that he speaks for the party on the matter.

The subject is not one of controversy between the Republican and Democratic parties in our city. I have been interested, however, in ascertaining the individual opinions of some of the leaders of the Democratic party in the

Governor Talks on Radio, Television and Answers Questions; Says G.O.P. Outspent by 6 to 1

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey charged today that the "Flynn-Tammany-Gangster Costello machine" had raised the "biggest slush fund in history" and was outspending the Republicans six to one.

Opening an 18-hour reelection campaign marathon over radio and television, the governor asserted that in three weeks in New York city alone the Democrats had spent $230,000 for newspaper and radio advertising.

During the same period, he added, the Republicans spent "all we had—$40,000. They're outspending us six to one."

The governor voiced the campaign spending charges in answer to a question telephoned to WOR's television studio where he began his marathon appearance at 6 a. m. (E.S.T.). The questioner wanted to know where the money was coming from to finance the 18-hour program.

"My neighbors in Pawling," replied Dewey. "A village of 2,000 . . . went out and raised a large part of the money and volunteer women around the state went out and raised the rest."

Earlier, Dewey attacked the Truman administration's policies on China and Korea. He called "very bad news" Gen. Douglas MacArthur's announcement that Chinese Communists had entered the Korean fighting.

"This very great tragedy," the Governor said, could have been averted "if we had supported Chiang Kai-Shek and had not let his government fall, or if we had not cleared out of Korea."

"The final catastrophe was that in January the State Department announced that Korea was not in our area of defense," he said.

Close by was a corps of Republican volunteers, mobilized to answer telephones and relay questions called in by listeners.

First Question

The first telephone question was, "how does it feel to get up so early?"

"As a matter of fact," the Governor replied, "I'm quite used to it."

On his Pawling, N. Y., farm Dewey said, he often rose early to help with the milking.

"That's how you get to know your cows," he added.

Told that 350 questions had been received in the first hour of the broadcast series, Dewey exclaimed, "Oh, Boy!"

The broadcasts will keep the GOP gubernatorial candidate talking almost steadily until midnight. Mobile TV units roamed the city to handle street corner questions from citizens and voters.

Between questions, the governor commented on national, international, state and local issues.

The first talk was a joint television-radio broadcast over WOR-TV, the NBC state radio net, and station WMCA.

Other Talks Planned

In addition, Dewey planned broadcasts over the state nets of the American Broadcasting Company and the Mutual Broacasting System.

On television, in addition to WOR-TV, he planned appearances on WCBS-TV and WABD in New York, and the NBC television network including Syracuse, Utica and Schenectady.

Some broadcasts will be over both media.

U. S. May Tell Sino Reds to Pull Army Or Lose Big Dam

Assurances of Continued Agreement Would Accompany Note on Troop Use

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP) — The United States may tell Communist China to stop sending troops to aid the Korean Reds or face destruction of the great Suino dam, a major source of power for China.

The report that such a warning is under serious consideration came simultaneously with release of a special communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, United Nations commander in the Far East, noting the presence of "alien Communist forces" in the Korean fighting.

Any such threat against the power installations presumably would be accompanied by assurances that if the Chinese Communists refrain from further intervention the agreements under which Manchuria and Korea share the Suino power will be observed and maintained.

The dam, on the Yalu river which forms the Korea-Manchuria border for a long distance, is within easy reach of American bombers. It has a power capacity of 700,000 kilowatts. That is about two-thirds the capacity of the Hoover Dam on the Colorado river. It was built during the Japanese occupation of Manchuria.

May Fight for Dam

Any combined warning-assurance on the Suino installations would be given on the assumption that Chinese fears for the power facilities may be a main reason why Red forces from the north are now fighting in Korea.

If such a move is made it is considered likely to go through the United Nations, which is sponsoring the action against North Korean Communist aggressors.

Suino is about 75 miles from the mouth of the Yalu river, much less than an hour's flying time from U. S. bomber bases in Korea and within range of B-29 superfortresses flying from Okinawa.

U.N. forces were within striking distance of it when they began to encounter fresh forces from China, variously estimated at from three to six divisions or 60,000 to 120,000 men.

Another big dam at Nahochin, all on the Manchurian side of the border, is also well within air striking range. It has a capacity of 235,000 kilowatts.

Killed in Car Crash

Briarcliffe Manor, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Eunice Tierney, 23, of Brooklyn, was killed and two others injured today when a car smashed into a stone bridge here. Police said the right side of the car, driven by Vernon Slaunwhite, 46, of Levittown, N. Y., was ripped off when the vehicle left Taconic State Parkway and hit the bridge. Slaunwhite and his wife, Marie, also 46, were injured, his wife critically. After the accident, another car, driven by a Stewart Field, N. Y., soldier, Emanuel Albuquerque, rammed into the rear end of the wrecked car, but no injuries resulted, police said.

Metropolitan Season Opens

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera opens its 1950-51 season tonight, an event which regularly draws a glittering first-nighter crowd of celebrities and socialites. Seats are sold out for the initial production—a performance of Verdi's "Don Carlo," with Swedish tenor Jussi Bjoerling in the leading role. Four new singers, Argentine soprano Delia Rigal, Italian mezzo-soprano Fedora Barbieri, Italian bass Cesare Siepi and American soprano Lucine Amara will make their Met debut in the opera.

Quads Are Born

Georgetown, British Guinana, Nov. 6 (AP)—Quadruplets, all girls, were born to Agatha Sulton, 38-year-old farmer's wife, at Georgetown Public Hospital last night. The babies weighed from three to three and a half pounds. Mrs. Sulton and all the babies were reported doing well.

Denial Is Given Of Underestimate On Reds' Strength

Spokesman Refutes Idea G-2 Was Caught by Surprise in North

Tokyo, Nov. 6 (AP)—General MacArthur's intelligence spokesman emphatically denied today that U.S. intelligence officers under-estimated the remaining strength of the Red Koreans.

The North Korean troop total was placed last week at 20,000 men.

The spokesman said intelligence long has carried on its books the numbers of units not included in the 20,000 figure. He said these units never had been encountered in battle nor had yielded any prisoners.

Their existence was suspected from other sources of information, he said, but never was confirmed.

The officer said an estimate of North Korean strength, not including the "alien" units (headquarters description of Chinese Red troops in North Korea) in battle, cannot be given at present.

He said "alien reinforcements" in fair strength still are coming into the battle zones.

Asked "isn't it a fact that G-2 (intelligence) was caught by surprise in the northwest?" he replied:

"No I cannot go along with that statement."

Recent setbacks suffered by United Nations troops were not accomplished by a Red Korean force of 20,000 men.

The North Koreans hit back with surprisingly strong forces—even aside from the Chinese reinforcements.

No Longer on Offensive.

The spokesman conceded that, in the overall situation, the U.N. troops no longer are completely on the offensive, as was said last week.

The officer said the Red Koreans are well trained and led, maneuver smartly and have fairly good morale. He said some units, badly chewed up in the earlier stages of the fighting, were reconstituted and sent back into the lines.

The spokesman said the 82-mm. rockets the Reds are using are not the Russian "Katushas" of World War II. Those now being encountered, he said, apparently launch 36 or 42 rockets and have a range of more than three miles.

A plans and operations spokesman indicated American troops would not be leaving Korea in the immediate future because of mopping up operations in the south and the growing threat in the northwest.

Korean Reverses Put Stocks on Skid Of $4 Per Share

Trades Take Gloomy View of News, Particularly MacArthur Note on Situation

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Wall street had a bad case of war nerves today as a result of latest news from Korea.

Stock quotations plunged and major commodities for future delivery shot ahead on the nation's various exchanges.

Violent price swings reflected sharp concern over possible repercussions of General MacArthur's formal charge that Chinese Communist forces are fighting U.N. troops in Korea.

The Stock Exchange was flooded with sell orders. Prices cracked $1 to more than $4 a share as jittery traders tossed big blocks of stock on the market.

The crush of business was so heavy that the exchange resorted to the unusual procedure of flashing prices directly to the ticker tape. Nearly an hour elapsed before trading slowed to a more orderly pace.

Steels, motors, rubber, rails and radio-television were hardest hit, among them U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Goodyear, Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central, Radio Corp. and Zenith

The specter of another war shadowed commodity futures markets in New York and Chicago. Prices moved up swiftly as traders considered the latest threat to world supply lines.

In the Chicago grain pit wheat gained more than five cents a bushel at one time, corn seven cents, rye eight cents, and soybeans 10 cents.

Cotton at New York rose around $1.50 a bale. Rubber soared the daily limit of two cents a pound, cocoa one cent a pound, and sugar one-half cent a pound.

City Hall to Close

All offices and departments in the city hall except the police department will be closed all day tomorrow, Election Day, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk has announced.

Bridges Register Gain Over 1949; Ferry Use Greater

Travel over the three bridges under control of the New York State Bridge Authority went up by 38,426 vehicles and 8.17 per cent in October this year over October, 1949, the authority reported today.

The Rip Van Winkle bridge near Catskill had the highest percentage increase. It showed a gain of 10,199 in vehicles or 9.68 per cent.

The Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry with a total of 8,061 vehicles was ahead of last year by 460, but was 472 under last year with a total of 2,218 in pedestrian passenger travel.

The totals were: Rip Van Winkle, 115,611, this year; 105,412 in 1949; Mid-Hudson, 266,252 this year, a gain of 20,181 over the 1949 total of 246,071 or 8.28 per cent; Bear Mountain, 127,075, a gain of 8,046 or 6.76 per cent over the 119,029 of October, 1949.

Connelly for Appointments; Plunket Refuses Comment

Vincent G. Connelly, Republican city chairman, today issued the following statement in support of continued appointment of members of the local education board, including among his reasons his belief that "the appointive system has worked out well in Kingston."

Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic county chairman, said he had no comment to make today on the question which appears on a separate ballot in tomorrow's election:

Connelly's statement:

I have been asked my views on the question to be voted upon tomorrow as to whether or not the mayor of the City of Kingston shall continue to appoint members of the Board of Education.

My recommendation of a "Yes" vote tomorrow has no connection whatsoever with my being at the present time Republican city chairman. Since the Republican party in the City of Kingston has not adopted any resolution on the question, no one can say that he speaks for the party on the matter.

The subject is not one of controversy between the Republican and Democratic parties in our city. I have been interested, however, in ascertaining the individual opinions of some of the leaders of the Democratic party in the

Situation Said to Be GravestOne

Intervention in Korea Branded as One of Most Offensive Acts of Lawlessness

May Ask Decision

Diplomats May Request U.N. Security Council for Action

Seoul, Nov. 6 (AP)—General MacArthur notified the United Nations Security Council today that Chinese Reds are fighting in Korea.

"The United Nations forces are meeting a new foe," MacArthur said in a special report transmitted at Lake Success by the Chief U. S. delegate, Warren R. Austin.

"The United Nations are presently in hostile contact with Chinese Communist military units," the report said. It gave a detailed account of specific Chinese Red units which have been identified.

In an extraordinary communique issued only a few hours earlier MacArthur referred only to "alien Communist forces" and branded their intervention in Korea as "one of the most offensive acts of international lawlessness" in history.

Tells of Concentration

The U. N. commander's communique said "a great concentration" of Communist divisions was massed in Manchuria. He called this threat "a matter of the gravest international significance."

Sources close to him spoke even more ominously. They said the start of a third world war may hinge on Red China's reaction to MacArthur's accusation.

Communist China might not answer MacArthur, they said, except by sending in more Red divisions.

President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea said he believes Soviet Russia ordered the Chinese Reds into Korea

Diplomats predicted the United States might ask the U. N. Security Council to act.

In Kansas City, a spokesman said Sunday that President Truman had no comment.

World Greatly Concerned

World capitals viewed the tense situation with mounting concern.

Fifty-three non-Communist nations are sponsors of the U.N.'s first armed peace enforcement action, waged against North Koreans who invaded the republic June 25.

A number of these countries have supplied troops, air units and warships for the Korean action.

Theoretically, Red Korea has fought alone. Actually, her troops were armed with vast amounts of Russian weapons. Russian-made planes have fought allied air power. And the Red Chinese fighting in Korea already have been estimated at between three and six divisions.

Their appearance last week drove back the plunging rush of Allied forces toward the Manchurian border. One South Korean regiment already had reached the boundary. An American tank-led column then was within a few miles of Manchuria.

Allies Fight Grimly

But Allied troops in the northwest today were waging a grim defensive fight on the Chongchon river line less than 50 miles from the old Red Korean capital of Pyongyang.

This represented a retreat of 50 miles or more in the face of heavy Communist attacks.

In the northeast, however, an American regiment was striking in zero weather within 24 miles of the Manchurian border. This force reported no Red resistance.

MacArthur said the Communist aggressor has massed "a great concentration of possible reinforcing divisions with adequate supply behind the privileged sanctuary of the adjacent Manchurian border."

Allied military intelligence has estimated 300,000 Chinese Red forces along the Manchurian border. One million Communist troops are estimated to be within striking distance.

MacArthur added:

"Whether and to what extent these reserves will be moved forward to reinforce units now com-

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—News from Korea sent a shudder of apprehension through stock and commodity exchanges today.

Stock prices plunged and commodity quotations soared. It was a typical response to the threat of war.

The spark that started violent price swings was ignited by General Douglas MacArthur who formally charged that Chinese Communist forces are fighting U. N. troops in Korea.

In the stock market the worse damage was done within an hour after trading started. A wave of selling crashed over the exchange and prices thudded down for losses ranging to $5 a share. The market value of all issues listed on the exchange dropped by nearly $2,000,000,000.

Trading was so heavy that the exchange, in an effort to maintain an up-to-the-second report of quotations, resorted to the unusual procedure of flashing key prices directly to the ticker tape.

Car and Garage Destroyed by Fire

A two-car cement block garage on the Stanley Duda property at Churchland, town of Saugerties, was destroyed by fire which was discovered about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning by Mrs. Frank Greco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duda. A 1949 Mercury car in the garage was destroyed and a quantity of furniture stored on the upper floor of the garage building was also lost. No estimate of the loss was made.

Mrs. Greco was awakened and sent in an alarm to the Mt. Marion fire department which responded in short order but was unable to extinguish the fire although there was a plentiful supply of water in a brook near the building. The firemen were able to do a good job in saving the house which was located some distance from the garage. The Centerville fire department and Glasco also responded under mutual aid and firemen continued to pour water on the burning building and the house until all danger was over.

The car was pulled from the garage when the flames had been brought under control but the car was a total loss. It is believed the fire may have started from a short circuit in the car, Mrs. Greco stated.

Letter to Sturges

The following letter has been received by Sturges, Democratic town chairman, and copies have been sent to Supervisor Richard F. Mack and to the town's attorney:

State of New York
Department of
Audit and Control
Albany
November 4, 1950

Mr. Paul M. Sturges
Stone Ridge
New York

Dear Mr. Sturges:

A letter dated November 1, 1950, signed "Marbletown Democratic Committee" has been referred to me. Inasmuch as the members of the Committee are not identified in the letter, I am addressing this reply to you, as it concerns a subject upon which you have been a protagonist since last spring.

The initial communication on the subject was answered by a letter from this office on February 20, 1950, addressed to Mr. Charles F. Hasbrouck. This matter at all times has been exclusively under my jurisdiction. The Comptroller has not been conversant with your communications.

The letter of February 20 was based on circumstances as then represented to us. More recently we have been informed that the building in question was acquired pursuant to the Town Law and not the Highway Law, and that it was acquired for a variety of Town purposes, among which are meetings of the Town Board, the holding of elections, an office for the Supervisor, an office for the Town Clerk, the storing of booths or voting machines, a place for the collection of taxes, and a place for the storage of any Town equipment.

In view of the fact that the building was acquired for general Town purposes and pursuant to the law applicable to buildings for such purposes, we do not believe our opinion of February 20 would be applicable thereto. Accordingly and because of the procedure followed by the Town Board, it would follow that the building could be properly acquired without a referendum.

Very truly yours,
CUSHMAN MC GEE
Deputy Comptroller

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—News from Korea sent a shudder of apprehension through stock and commodity exchanges today.

Stock prices plunged and commodity quotations soared. It was a typical response to the threat of war.

The spark that started violent price swings was ignited by General Douglas MacArthur who formally charged that Chinese Communist forces are fighting U. N. troops in Korea.

In the stock market the worse damage was done within an hour after trading started. A wave of selling crashed over the exchange and prices thudded down for losses ranging to $5 a share. The market value of all issues listed on the exchange dropped by nearly $2,000,000,000.

Trading was so heavy that the exchange, in an effort to maintain an up-to-the-second report of quotations, resorted to the unusual procedure of flashing key prices directly to the ticker tape.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co. members of the New York Stock Exchange, 60 Beaver street, New York city, branch office, 41 John street, R. B. Osterhoudt, manager.

Car and Garage Destroyed by Fire

A two-car cement block garage on the Stanley Duda property at Churchland, town of Saugerties, was destroyed by fire which was discovered about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning by Mrs. Frank Greco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duda. A 1949 Mercury car in the garage was destroyed and a quantity of furniture stored on the upper floor of the garage building was also lost. No estimate of the loss was made.

Mrs. Greco was awakened and sent in an alarm to the Mt. Marion fire department which responded in short order but was unable to extinguish the fire although there was a plentiful supply of water in a brook near the building. The firemen were able to do a good job in saving the house which was located some distance from the garage. The Centerville fire department and Glasco also responded under mutual aid and firemen continued to pour water on the burning building and the house until all danger was over.

The car was pulled from the garage when the flames had been brought under control but the car was a total loss. It is believed the fire may have started from a short circuit in the car, Mrs. Greco stated.

Letter to Sturges

The following letter has been received by Sturges, Democratic town chairman, and copies have been sent to Supervisor Richard F. Mack and to the town's attorney:

State of New York
Department of
Audit and Control
Albany
November 4, 1950

Mr. Paul M. Sturges
Stone Ridge
New York

Dear Mr. Sturges:

A letter dated November 1, 1950, signed "Marbletown Democratic Committee" has been referred to me. Inasmuch as the members of the Committee are not identified in the letter, I am addressing this reply to you, as it concerns a subject upon which you have been a protagonist since last spring.

The initial communication on the subject was answered by a letter from this office on February 20, 1950, addressed to Mr. Charles F. Hasbrouck. This matter at all times has been exclusively under my jurisdiction. The Comptroller has not been conversant with your communications.

The letter of February 20 was based on circumstances as then represented to us. More recently we have been informed that the building in question was acquired pursuant to the Town Law and not the Highway Law, and that it was acquired for a variety of Town purposes, among which are meetings of the Town Board, the holding of elections, an office for the Supervisor, an office for the Town Clerk, the storing of booths or voting machines, a place for the collection of taxes, and a place for the storage of any Town equipment.

In view of the fact that the building was acquired for general Town purposes and pursuant to the law applicable to buildings for such purposes, we do not believe our opinion of February 20 would be applicable thereto. Accordingly and because of the procedure followed by the Town Board, it would follow that the building could be properly acquired without a referendum.

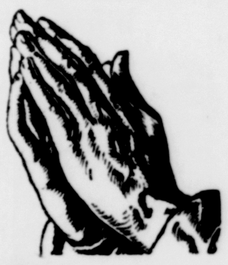

Very truly yours,
CUSHMAN MC GEE
Deputy Comptroller

Temperatures Are Normal

Chicago, Nov. 6 (AP)—Temperatures were back within normal ranges over the nation today with no sharp changes in sight. Federal forecaster C. B. Johnson said the weather would continue fair and mild for this time of year for the next 24 hours except in the Dakotas and upper Mississippi valley. Slightly colder weather already had begun moving into that area early today from Canada. Dickinson, N. D., with a low of 30 degrees, was the coldest spot among early reports.

Baker All Burned

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 6, 1950

GO TO THE POLLS

Tomorrow the citizens of Kingston and the townships of Ulster County will go to the polls to cast their ballots for the candidates of their choice.

In a series of editorials, we have listed some of the accomplishments of the Dewey Administration during the past eight years. The progress is unparalled in state history.

This should not be forgotten by the voters when they go to the polls tomorrow. And for that reason they should not only vote for Governor Dewey but for the entire Republican ticket.

We kick about high taxes and we kick about more and more restrictions clamped on us by government and government bureaus. Tomorrow you can do something about it when you enter the polling booth.

No man or woman is too busy to vote. The polling places are just around the corner and will be open at 6 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Don't think you are not interested in politics, because if you are not, certain politicians will take advantage of you.

Make sure you cast your vote tomorrow. And you will make no mistake by voting a straight Republican ticket.

TRAINS THEY TALK ABOUT

Railroading seems a romantic business to non-railroaders. Railroad men themselves may think that their work could stand a little more romance, which may be why they seek glamorous names for their crack trains. A list, "Named Passenger Trains," has just been issued by the Association of American Railroads.

Examination shows that the majority of the names are meant to suggest the territory covered, like the Pennsylvania's "Broadway Limited" and the New York Central's "Empire State Express." Some commemorate noted men, as the Big Four's "James Whitcomb Riley," making the Cincinnati-Chicago run across Indiana; the Illinois Central's "Irvin S. Cobb" between Louisville and Memphis; the Lehigh Valley's "Asa Packer" after its noted president in the sixties; and the Frisco's "Will Rogers" between St. Louis and Oklahoma City.

There are some fanciful names. The Burlington runs the "Ak-sar-ben" (Nebraska spelled backward) between Chicago, Omaha and Lincoln. The New Haven and the Boston and Maine join in operating the "East Wind" between New York and Portland, Maine. The Louisville and Nashville has also a "Gulf Wind" from St. Louis to New Orleans and Jacksonville. The "Gila Tomahawk" is the startling title of the Southern Pacific's flier between Bowie, Texas, and Globe, Arizona. The New Haven's late train from New York to Stamford is appropriately designated "The Night Cap."

There are the expected number of names suggesting speed, "Rockets," "Comets," "Zephyrs," "Cannon Balls." Surprisingly, there are no "thunderbolts." And a possible name which has not been actually used occurred in a mystery of a few years ago about a murder on a record-breaking train, "The Shooting Star."

DEATH IN CAMPAIGN

Colorado Republicans were thrown into dismay when their candidate for governor, former Governor Ralph L. Carr, died in the midst of his campaign. The notice attracted by the tragic incident emphasizes the rarity of this kind of happening, which is remarkable considering the frequency of elections.

It so happens that no presidential candidate has died in mid-campaign. In 1912 the Republican nominee for vice-president, James S. Sherman, died just before election. That was the year of the Bull Moose split in the Republican ranks, and the G.O.P. was generally acknowledged to stand no chance. Sherman's death therefore attracted little special attention. After election the party national committee chose Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, to receive Sherman's few electoral votes.

Horace Greeley died just after the election in which General U. S. Grant beat him overwhelmingly. The Greeley electors scattered their votes among several candidates, the majority going to the vice-presidential nominee, Governor B. Gratz Brown of Missouri.

Our parties and the electorate have been fortunate in that these two have been the only such casualties in major party tickets.

The mind may produce keen ideas, but frequently they succumb to the boredom of loneliness.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE ELECTION

As a citizen, I shall have to vote for a galaxy of candidates. The names on the voting machine will be numerous. My representative in Congress is Junior—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.—who does not actually live in my district and is not part of its life. Unfortunately, the same is true of his Republican opponent. This is a large, heavily populated area, consisting of many persons of ability and distinction. Why we have to go outside it to find candidates is dimicult to understand.

But we have no choice. Nobody in these parts votes in the primaries except a few political hacks, and the party bosses do as they like. It is an area of political apathy. I shall, of course, not vote for Junior. Actually, he represents nothing but a desire to keep going in public life.

For United States senator, I could not vote for Herbert Lehman. His is not a record of great achievement. With all his opportunities, he has been a party wheelhorse, who shouts that he is a liberal but does whatever the party requires. His letter to Alger Hiss, written in 1948, is about as stupid a document as I have ever read, even more stupid than the Hanley letter. He expressed confidence in Hiss when there could be no basis for such an expression by an informed man. His excuse that John Foster Dulles, Arthur Ballantine, and John W. Davis also had confidence in Alger Hiss is one of those fatuous arguments that can only convince those who accept a press-agent's appraisal of his boss.

Furthermore, I shall vote for a Republican candidate for the United States Senate and should, wherever I might live and vote, for one reason in this election, namely, in the hope that they might get enough senators to be able to organize that body and appoint the chairman of committees. This is important because:

1. I should like to see the Tydings Committee revived without Tydings. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., or Bourke Hickenlooper would be chairman of that committee, if the Republicans won. They would reopen the investigation into the Amerasia case and into the entire McCarthy-Lattimore charges. The Tydings Committee made no investigation worth a candle and its report is a ridiculous whitewash;

2. A full review needs to be made of the American foreign policy, since 1934, with particular emphasis on Asia. The policy is again costing us the lives of our sons. Already more than 26,000 have been reported as casualties in Korea. This is a "delayed" figure; the more accurate figure is undoubtedly higher.

This problem needs a thorough public airing, even if everything that has been done and every policy pursued is endorsed, and only the party in opposition can do it. Therefore, I should like to see a Republican chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate;

3. The Kefauver committee investigating the relationship of crime to politics has already covered up the situation in Kansas City, Mo., which seems to be moving in the direction of Al Capone's Chicago, and is apparently run by the same crowd. As a newspaperman, long engaged in ferreting out the factual but often unprovable, I know that in most large cities crime could not be widespread without political protection.

Gambling is not the crime; it is the protection of gamblers and associated criminals by public officials for compensation, monetary or non-monetary. The public is not interested in getting Frank Costello or Joe Adonis for slot-machine or crap game operations; it is interested in having a full expose of the relationship of public officials, not only the police, but income tax inspectors, and all the higher-ups to these gentlemen of the road.

Therefore, we need such an investigator as Senator Homer Ferguson to do this job. Senator Kefauver undoubtedly means well; he is hamstrung by party affiliations;

4. The entire question of subversion needs a non-political patriotic approach. Extremism and partisanship do not serve America in such matters. The Democrats are too involved to do an honest job. For instance, Lee Pressman, John Abt and such persons have been too close to the throne.

I should like to see a broad-gauged Republican on that job, one who would not seek to make party capital out of such an investigation, but who would seek the truth. Such an attitude can only exist in the opposition group among those who have nothing to hide.

That Body of Yours

PURGATIVES TO REDUCE WEIGHT

There was a time when a woman who used rouge on her lips or cheeks was an unusual; it was the one with a clear or white complexion who was considered fortunate. To attain this clear white complexion, many women took such purgatives as epsom salts. These purgatives gave them a clear complexion but unfortunately they drove much of the rich hemoglobin (iron) out of the blood, so thinning the blood that anemia resulted. Not only was the amount of hemoglobin reduced but the number of the blood cells themselves was reduced.

One of the most valuable drugs in use is epsom salts; in fact, level teaspoon doses every day for seven days every month is prescribed by many physicians in the treatment of rheumatism, because epsom salts stimulate activity of the lower bowel, thus throwing out wastes but also carrying out the poisons in the blood that cause rheumatism or arthritis. While this may be the reason that the new arthritis drugs' ACTH and cortisone are so effective, many physicians believe that these two drugs actually kill the organisms causing arthritis and other diseases.

Purgatives to reduce weight, and for this purpose only, have not only the effect of driving water out of the tissues, but also the loss of hemoglobin from the blood so weakens the individual that he is not able to withstand various diseases. I have in mind an attractive young women whose white complexion was the envy of her girl friends and the admiration of boy friends. A few years later, however, she became so weak that she developed tuberculosis and died.

In addition to removing iron from the blood, the purgatives hurry valuable food elements from the small intestine before the blood can absorb them, thus causing the various tissues of the body to be nourished by blood low not only in iron but in other needed food elements, particularly minerals and vitamins.

Remember, the proper diet to attain ideal weight is one part proteins (meat, eggs, fish) to two parts fats (cream, butter, fat meats) to three parts starch food (bread, sugar, potatoes).

Overweight and Underweight

The Return of the Prodigal Son

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Nov. 5—It has been said that the current campaign has been the dirtiest in the political history of the state and city of New York. I can't go into comparisons, having insufficient knowledge of past campaigns, but I contend that this one has not been too bad, after all. There has been a substantial moral profit from a reckless attack on Lieutenant-Governor Joe R. Hanley and Governor Tom Dewey. For once in many years, two competent, honest, decent public servants have been able to dramatize the contrast between those qualities and the awful corruption which has become the New Deal standard in political life.

Some jealous individual within the Republican party released a letter which Hanley, the Republican candidate for senator against Herbert H. Lehman, had written to a confidant, outlining his personal financial condition and prospects. The Democrats whooped this up as though Hanley had been caught stealing whereas the letter was only an innocent review of his personal situation, including the fact that he had been promised further employment in the state government, at modest pay, in the event of his defeat by Lehman. This is such common practice in politics that the attempt to make a vicious scandal of it back-fired. First, it gave Mr Hanley a legitimate excuse to reveal the fact that he had paid off out of his earnings over many years much of a liability incurred in the failure of a bank. Second, it showed in shocking contrast the difference between his splendid standards and those of the Roosevelt cult.

Even the New York Times a partisan New Deal-Socialist paper with pro-Communist nuances in its treatment of current "literature," was compelled to salute Hanley as a man of extraordinary honor:

"Some 20 years ago," the Times said, "he assumed a filial obligation of debt—some $100,000, we are told—because of the failure of a bank in which a parent was a stockholder. He could have escaped this burden by entering bankruptcy. He chose instead what he regarded as the way of honor. For years, Mr. Hanley has struggled with those financial burdens. He reduced the indebtedness to something under $30,000. Several years ago, he lost the sight of one eye. Early this fall, he learned that he was in danger of going wholly blind."

It would have been impossible to ignore the contrast even if Eleanor Roosevelt had kept a still tongue. But, pinked slightly by the Republican rejoinder that her husband had demanded and received a bribe of about $250,000 to run for governor in 1928, the widow horned into the fray with some utterly unintelligible comment about this incident. She said it all had been explained in her book of memoirs and misrepresentations, all qualified by deadly omissions of essential information.

The "explanation" in the book is not an explanation at all, however, as any amateur could prove by simple arithmetic and a few questions. And the fact was emphasized, all as a result of this imputation against Joe Hanley, that Roosevelt did hold out for an enormous bribe for his own, personal, financial benefit and his mother's, which was personally guaranteed by the late John J. Raskob, who put his check for $200,000 into the mail immediately. Any illusion that any of this money was to inhere to the benefit of any victim of infantile paralysis is false.

Still further, the attacks on Hanley, and his morally inspiring explanation on the air of great sacrifices over many year, irrestibly recalled the shady procedure by which F.D.R. helped his son, Elliott, to round up suckers for enormous loans, and the still more shameless method by which the creditors were induced not only to forgive the debts but to surrender their collateral on false representations that it was useless. This true scion of the Roosevelt stock and morality is the one who now recites the commercials in his mother's unabashed broadcasts. One of Elliott's suckers admitted that he understood that in return for his $25,000, he was to be named a federal judge.

In the same vein, Anna Roosevelt lost about $400,000 of other people's money loaned by the faithful, and "settled" most of the obligations at one cent on the dollar.

Thus, if this has been a "dirty" campaign, it will be seen that Hanley and Dewey, both poor men after long service in public office, did not dish the dirt. Neither were they dirtied with it.

A young woman who has grown up under the moral and political standards of the cult asked me during the campaign why I was obsessed against the Roosevelts. That is a trick question but typical of that same morality. I am not obsessed against the Roosevelts. I am just aghast at the standards which they established by such practices. However, this may be the first time the young woman has ever heard of these affairs. Much of our press refrained from publishing the facts at the time and millions of young persons have grown to maturity since then without an inkling of the true character of the family which exerted such a great influence on the morals of the United States and the world.

The Salt Mountain of Tuz Goel

An enormous mountain of solid salt stands in the middle of Tuz Goel in Asia Minor, Turkey. Tuz Goel is a lake of solid salt more than 2000 square miles in area and consisting of chemically pure salt which needs no refinement and can be used on the spot. The salt is of the appearance of hard snow. There is no water in the lake, as it has long since evaporated leaving only sodium chloride in its place. About 200,000 tons of salt are carried away during the year.

People Entitled to Know What Policies Are Concerning China in Korean Conflict

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 6—The United Nations is at war with Communist China but while the U.N. forces in Korea know it, the U.N. organization officially isn't aware of it yet.

The war is the direct result of appeasement. Again, as in Munich in, 1938, aggressors have trampled on good intent and peaceful overtures and regarded them as signs of weakness and timidity.

The United States government has blundered badly. The State Department has had ample warning but it has chosen to appease the Communist government in China. The American people are entitled to know the truth about the recent approaches to the Communist government made secretly through diplomatic channels—through Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India and through the British diplomatic officers in the Far East. Just what did the United States say to Communist China about our policies in Korea?

The only hints that have been made publicly that assurances of some kind were given have come in utterances by State Department officials.

Did the United States try to tell Communist China that North Korea would be promptly abandoned once it was occupied by U.N. forces and that Chinese Communist interests in North Korea would not be adversely affected in the long run? Was MacArthur's advice—to show strength instead of fear—disregarded?

Did the United States authorize the Seventh Fleet to permit the running of the blockade established by the Nationalist government?

There are a lot of unexplained points which will doubtless be clarified when the congressional elections are over.

For some months it has been claimed here that the Chinese Communists should be recognized and admitted to the U.N. on the theory that Mao Tse-tung would become a Chinese Tito. But the evidence now points the other way. The Communist government in China is not only playing the Moscow game in its broadcasts but military help is being given by the Communist Chinese to the North Korean forces.

This should dispel completely the idea of admitting Red China to the UN. Also it should persuade the government of Great Britain to withdraw diplomatic recognition from the Communist government of China. For how can the British who have troops among the UN forces see their own citizens being killed by the troops of the Chinese government with which Britain is supposedly on friendly terms?

The big question now is whether the UN will exhibit the same courage it did last June and declare Red China an aggressor and a foe of UN forces. Some dispatches from Lake Success indicate that the UN isn't ready with all the facts. But what extra facts does it need? It was formally notified by the premier of the Chinese Communist government several weeks ago of an intention to help the North Koreans. Is it possible that inept British diplomacy is engaged in the appeasement process and is confusing the situation and preventing prompt action in the UN?

When President Truman talks of "isolationnists" he overlooks the fact that within his own administration he has people who isolated Korea and virtually invited the invasion of that country by aggressors. Likewise there are advisers in the Truman administration whose attitude toward China for several months has been one of isolationism. The slogan has been "let Asia stew in its own juice." That was what used to be said about Europe as a way to avoid entanglement in war. But the Truman folks who have in effect said it recently about Asia have not been able to prevent a war—in fact, they have involuntarily brought it on. Today the situation in the Far East is more serious as a result of these vacillating policies than it was last June.

Comments On Advertisement
Kingston, New York
Nov. 2, 1950

Editor, The Freeman

The large political advertisement which appeared in the Freeman of Oct. 31, 1950, page 10, in behalf of the Republican candidates for local and state offices proves one of three things and maybe all three.

First: The State of New York and its affiairs and problems are NOT once mentioned in this advertisement. Mr. Dewey and his fellow office seekers are obviously under the delusion that this is a presidential year and they must run against a NATIONAL administration.

Second: We may assume that Mr. Dewey and his associates are afraid to run against their opponents and would prefer to run against opponents in POLAND, CHINA, KOREA, ROUMANIA or YUGOSLAVIA.

Third: More than likely Mr. Dewey and his associates have no constructive policy to offer the people of this state so they feel free to criticize what they consider to be the errors of the NATIONAL administration.

If Mr. Dewey and his Republican associates would look carefully at the records of the past twenty years they would see that those people who would stop the "shameful blunders of the Democratic party" have been repudiated at EVERY election but one. And Mr. Dewey has been repudiated by the voters of this NATION twice. But now he runs against the national administration.

Perhaps the people of New York state would be better off if Mr. Dewey and his supporters (and I assume the Freeman is one) confined themselves to issues in NEW YORK and left the national administration to those who have duly elected to it.

Sincerely
BRUCE BURGHER

A series of editorials pointing out some of the accomplishments of the Dewey Administration have appeared in The Freeman. The progress made during his governorship is unparalleled in state history.

We trust that the voters will not forget this when they go to the polls on Tuesday.

The writer of the above missive is correct in assuming that The Freeman is a supporter of Governor Dewey for re-election.

And further we not only support Governor Dewey but also the entire Republican ticket and for the same reasons—The Continuance of Strong, Progressive and Solvent Government.

The "Gila Tomahawk" is the startling title of the Southern Pacific's flier between Bowie, Texas, and Globe, Arizona. The New Haven's late train from New York to Stamford is appropriately designated "The Night Cap."

There are the expected number of names suggesting speed, "Rockets," "Comets," "Zephyrs," "Cannon Balls." Surprisingly, there are no "thunderbolts." And a possible name which has not been actually used occurred in a mystery of a few years ago about a murder on a record-breaking train, "The Shooting Star."

DEATH IN CAMPAIGN

Colorado Republicans were thrown into dismay when their candidate for governor, former Governor Ralph L. Carr, died in the midst of his campaign. The notice attracted by the tragic incident emphasizes the rarity of this kind of happening, which is remarkable considering the frequency of elections.

It so happens that no presidential candidate has died in mid-campaign. In 1912 the Republican nominee for vice-president, James S. Sherman, died just before election. That was the year of the Bull Moose split in the Republican ranks, and the G.O.P. was generally acknowledged to stand no chance. Sherman's death therefore attracted little special attention. After election the party national committee chose Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, to receive Sherman's few electoral votes.

Horace Greeley died just after the election in which General U. S. Grant beat him overwhelmingly. The Greeley electors scattered their votes among several candidates, the majority going to the vice-presidential nominee, Governor B. Gratz Brown of Missouri.

Our parties and the electorate have been fortunate in that these two have been the only such casualties in major party tickets.

The mind may produce keen ideas, but frequently they succumb to the boredom of loneliness.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE ELECTION

As a citizen, I shall have to vote for a galaxy of candidates. The names on the voting machine will be numerous. My representative in Congress is Junior—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.—who does not actually live in my district and is not part of its life. Unfortunately, the same is true of his Republican opponent. This is a large, heavily populated area, consisting of many persons of ability and distinction. Why we have to go outside it to find candidates is difficult to understand.

But we have no choice. Nobody in these parts votes in the primaries except a few political hacks, and the party bosses do as they like. It is an area of political apathy. I shall, of course, not vote for Junior. Actually, he represents nothing but a desire to keep going in public life.

For United States senator, I could not vote for Herbert Lehman. His is not a record of great achievement. With all his opportunities, he has been a party wheelhorse, who shouts that he is a liberal but does whatever the party requires. His letter to Alger Hiss, written in 1948, is about as stupid a document as I have ever read, even more stupid than the Hanley letter. He expressed confidence in Hiss when there could be no basis for such an expression by an informed man. His excuse that John Foster Dulles, Arthur Ballantine, and John W. Davis also had confidence in Alger Hiss is one of those fatuous arguments that can only convince those who accept a press-agent's appraisal of his boss.

Furthermore, I shall vote for a Republican candidate for the United States Senate and should, wherever I might live and vote, for one reason in this election, namely, in the hope that they might get enough senators to be able to organize that body and appoint the chairman of committees. This is important because:

1. I should like to see the Tydings Committee revived witnout Tydings. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., or Bourke Hickenlooper would be chairman of that committee, if the Republicans won. They would reopen the investigation into the Amerasia case and into the entire McCarthy-Lattimore charges. The Tydings Committee made no investigation worth a candle and its report is a ridiculous whitewash;

2. A full review needs to be made of the American foreign policy, since 1934, with particular emphasis on Asia. The policy is again costing us the lives of our sons. Already more than 26,000 have been reported as casualties in Korea. This is a "delayed" figure; the more accurate figure is undoubtedly higher.

This problem needs a thorough public airing, even if everything that has been done and every policy pursued is endorsed, and only the party in opposition can do it. Therefore, I should like to see a Republican chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate;

3. The Kefauver committee investigating the relationship of crime to politics has already covered up the situation in Kansas City, Mo., which seems to be moving in the direction of Al Capone's Chicago, and is apparently run by the same crowd. As a newspaperman, long engaged in ferreting out the factual but often unprovable I know that in most large cities crime could not be widespread without political protection.

Gambling is not the crime; it is the protection of gamblers and associated criminals by public officials for compensation, monetary or non-monetary. The public is not interested in getting Frank Costello or Joe Adonis for slot-machine or crap game operations; it is interested in having a full expose of the relationship of public officials, not only the police, but income tax inspectors, and all the higher-ups to these gentlemen of the road.

Therefore, we need such an investigator as Senator Homer Ferguson to do this job. Senator Kefauver undoubtedly means well; he is hamstrung by party affiliations;

4. The entire question of subversion needs a non-political patriotic approach. Extremism and partisanship do not serve America in such matters. The Democrats are too involved to do an honest job. For instance, Lee Pressman, John Abt and such persons have been too close to the throne.

I should like to see a broad-gauged Republican on that job, one who would not seek to make party capital out of such an investigation, but who would seek the truth. Such an attitude can only exist in the opposition group among those who have nothing to hide.

That Body of Yours

PURGATIVES TO REDUCE WEIGHT

There was a time when a woman who used rouge on her lips or cheeks was an unusual; it was the one with a clear or white complexion who was considered fortunate. To attain this clear white complexion, many women took such purgatives as epsom salts. These purgatives gave them a clear complexion but unfortunately they drove much of the rich hemoglobin (iron) out of the blood, so thinning the blood that anemia resulted. Not only was the amount of hemoglobin reduced but the number of the blood cells themselves was reduced.

One of the most valuable drugs in use is epsom salts; in fact, level teaspoon doses every day for seven days every month is prescribed by many physicians in the treatment of rheumatism, because epsom salts stimulate activity of the lower bowel, thus throwing out wastes but also carrying out the poisons in the blood that cause rheumatism or arthritis. While this may be the reason that the new arthritis drugs ACTH and cortisone are so effective, many physicians believe that these two drugs actually kill the organisms causing arthritis and other diseases.

Purgatives to reduce weight, and for this purpose only, have not only the effect of driving water out of the tissues, but also the loss of hemoglobin from the blood so weakens the individual that he is not able to withstand various diseases. I have in mind an attractive young women whose white complexion was the envy of her girl friends and the admiration of boy friends. A few years later, however, she became so weak that she developed tuberculosis and died.

In addition to removing iron from the blood, the purgatives hurry valuable food elements from the small intestine before the blood can absorb them, thus causing the various tissues of the body to be nourished by blood low not only in iron but in other needed food elements, particularly minerals and vitamins.

Remember, the proper diet to attain ideal weight is one part proteins (meat, eggs, fish) to two parts fats (cream, butter, fat meats) to three parts starch food (bread, sugar, potatoes).

Overweight and Underweight

The Return of the Prodigal Son

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Nov. 5—It has been said that the current campaign has been the dirtiest in the political history of the state and city of New York. I can't go into comparisons, having insufficient knowledge of past campaigns, but I contend that this one has not been too bad, after all. There has been a substantial moral profit from a reckless attack on Lieutenant-Governor Joe R. Hanley and Governor Tom Dewey. For once in many years, two competent, honest, decent public servants have been able to dramatize the contrast between those qualities and the awful corruption which has become the New Deal standard in political life.

Some jealous individual within the Republican party released a letter which Hanley, the Republican candidate for senator against Herbert H. Lehman, had written to a confidant, outlining his personal financial condition and prospects. The Democrats whooped this up as though Hanley had been caught stealing whereas the letter was only an innocent review of his personal situation, including the fact that he had been promised further employment in the state government, at modest pay, in the event of his defeat by Lehman. This is such common practice in politics that the attempt to make a vicious scandal of it back-fired. First, it gave Mr Hanley a legitimate excuse to reveal the fact that he had paid off out of his earnings over many years much of a liability incurred in the failure of a bank. Second, it showed in shocking contrast the difference between his splendid standards and those of the Roosevelt cult.

Even the New York Times, a partisan New Deal-Socialist paper with pro-Communist nuances in its treatment of current "literature," was compelled to salute Hanley as a man of extraordinary honor:

"Some 20 years ago," the Times said, "he assumed a filial obligation of debt—some $100,000, we are told—because of the failure of a bank in which a parent was a stockholder. He could have escaped this burden by entering bankruptcy. He chose instead what he regarded as the way of honor. For years, Mr. Hanley has struggled with those financial burdens. He reduced the indebtedness to something under $30,000. Several years ago, he lost the sight of one eye. Early this fall, he learned that he was in danger of going wholly blind."

It would have been impossible to ignore the contrast even if Eleanor Roosevelt had kept a still tongue. But, pinked slightly by the Republican rejoinder that her husband had demanded and received a bribe of about $250,000 to run for governor in 1928, the widow horned into the fray with some utterly unintelligible comment about this incident. She said it all had been explained in her book of memoirs and misrepresentations, all qualified by deadly omissions of essential information.

The "explanation" in the book is not an explanation at all, however, as any amateur could prove by simple arithmetic and a few questions. And the fact was emphasized, all as a result of this imputation against Joe Hanley, that Roosevelt did hold out for an enormous bribe for his own, personal, financial benefit and his mother's, which was personally guaranteed by the late John J. Raskob, who put his check for $200,000 into the mail immediately. Any illusion that any of this money was to inhere to the benefit of any victim of infantile paralysis is false.

Still further, the attacks on Hanley, and his morally inspiring explanation on the air of great sacrifices over many year, irrestibly recalled the shady procedure by which F.D.R. helped his son, Elliott, to round up suckers for enormous loans, and the still more shameless method by which the creditors were induced not only to forgive the debts but to surrender their collateral on false representations that it was useless. This true scion of the Roosevelt stock and morality is the one who now recites the commercials in his mother's unabashed broadcasts. One of Elliott's suckers admitted that he understood that in return for his $25,000, he was to be named a federal judge.

In the same vein, Anna Roosevelt lost about $400,000 of other people's money loaned by the faithful, and "settled" most of the obligations at one cent on the dollar.

Thus, if this has been a "dirty" campaign, it will be seen that Hanley and Dewey, both poor men after long service in public office, did not dish the dirt. Neither were they dirtied with it.

A young woman who has grown up under the moral and political standards of the cult asked me during the campaign why I was obsessed against the Roosevelts. That is a trick question but typical of that same morality. I am not obsessed against the Roosevelts. I am just aghast at the standards which they established by such practices. However, this may be the first time the young woman has ever heard of these affairs. Much of our press refrained from publishing the facts at the time and millions of young persons have grown to maturity since then without an inkling of the true character of the family which exerted such a great influence on the morals of the United States and the world.

The Salt Mountain of Tuz Goel

An enormous mountain of solid salt stands in the middle of Tuz Goel in Asia Minor, Turkey. Tuz Goel is a lake of solid salt more than 2000 square miles in area and consisting of chemically pure salt which needs no refinement and can be used on the spot. The salt is of the appearance of hard snow. There is no water in the lake, as it has long since evaporated leaving only sodium chloride in its place. About 200,000 tons of salt are carried away during the year.

People Entitled to Know What Policies Are Concerning China in Korean Conflict

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 6—The United Nations is at war with Communist China but while the U.N. forces in Korea know it, the U.N. organization officially isn't aware of it yet.

The war is the direct result of appeasement. Again, as in Munich in 1938, aggressors have trampled on good intent and peaceful overtures and regarded them as signs of weakness and timidity.

The United States government has blundered badly. The State Department has had ample warning but it has chosen to appease the Communist government in China. The American people are entitled to know the truth about the recent approaches to the Communist government made secretly through diplomatic channels—through Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India and through the British diplomatic officers in the Far East. Just what did the United States say to Communist China about our policies in Korea?

The only hints that have been made publicly that assurances of some kind were given have come in utterances by State Department officials.

Did the United States try to tell Communist China that North Korea would be promptly abandoned once it was occupied by U.N. forces and that Chinese Communist interests in North Korea would not be adversely affected in the long run? Was MacArthur's advice—to show strength instead of fear—disregarded?

Did the United States authorize the Seventh Fleet to permit the running of the blockade established by the Nationalist government?

There are a lot of unexplained points which will doubtless be clarified when the congressional elections are over.

For some months it has been claimed here that the Chinese Communists should be recognized and admitted to the U.N. on the theory that Mao Tse-tung would become a Chinese Tito. But the evidence now points the other way. The Communist government in China is not only playing the Moscow game in its broadcasts but military help is being given by the Communist Chinese to the North Korean forces.

This should dispel completely the idea of admitting Red China to the UN. Also it should persuade the government of Great Britain to withdraw diplomatic recognition from the Communist government of China. For how can the British who have troops among the UN forces see their own citizens being killed by the troops of the Chinese government with which Britain is supposedly on friendly terms?

The big question now is whether the UN will exhibit the same courage it did last June and declare Red China an aggressor and a foe of UN forces. Some dispatches from Lake Success indicate that the UN isn't ready with all the facts. But what extra facts does it need? It was formally notified by the premier of the Chinese Communist government several weeks ago of an intention to help the North Koreans. Is it possible that inept British diplomacy is engaged in the appeasement process and is confusing the situation and preventing prompt action in the UN?

When President Truman talks of "isolationnists" he overlooks the fact that within his own administration he has people who isolated Korea and virtually invited the invasion of that country by aggressors. Likewise there are advisers in the Truman administration whose attitude toward China for several months has been one of isolationism. The slogan has been "let Asia stew in its own juice." That was what used to be said about Europe as a way to avoid entanglement in war. But the Truman folks who have in effect said it recently about Asia have not been able to prevent a war—in fact, they have involuntarily brought it on. Today the situation in the Far East is more serious as a result of these vacillating policies than it was last June.

Comments On Advertisement

Kingston, New York
Nov. 2, 1950

Editor, The Freeman

The large political advertisement which appeared in the Freeman of Oct. 31, 1950, page 10, in behalf of the Republican candidates for local and state offices proves one of three things and maybe all three.

First: The State of New York and its affiairs and problems are NOT once mentioned in this advertisement. Mr. Dewey and his fellow office seekers are obviously under the delusion that this is a presidential year and they must run against a NATIONAL administration.

Second: We may assume that Mr. Dewey and his associates are afraid to run against their opponents and would prefer to run against opponents in POLAND, CHINA, KOREA, ROUMANIA or YUGOSLAVIA.

Third: More than likely Mr. Dewey and his associates have no constructive policy to offer the people of this state so they feel free to criticize what they consider to be the errors of the NATIONAL administration.

If Mr. Dewey and his Republican associates would look carefully at the records of the past twenty years they would see that those people who would stop the "shameful blunders of the Democratic party" have been repudiated at EVERY election but one. And Mr. Dewey has been repudiated by the voters of this NATION twice. But now he runs against the national administration.

Perhaps the people of New York state would be better off if Mr. Dewey and his supporters (and I assume the Freeman is one) confined themselves to issues in NEW YORK and left the national administration to those who have duly elected to it.

Sincerely
BRUCE BURGHER

A series of editorials pointing out some of the accomplishments of the Dewey Administration have appeared in The Freeman. The progress made during his governorship is unparalleled in state history.

We trust that the voters will not forget this when they go to the polls on Tuesday.

The writer of the above missive is correct in assuming that The Freeman is a supporter of Governor Dewey for re-election.

And further we not only support Governor Dewey but also the entire Republican ticket and for the same reasons—The Continuance of Strong, Progressive and Solvent Government.

Against Expansion Of Public Housing During Controls

"No new public housing should be started during the period when residential construction is subject to restrictive controls" is the conclusion reached by the Housing Committee of the Council of Insured Savings Associations of New York state, in a report adopted at a meeting held last week.

The meeting was called by David Ford, president of the council, to study the effect on the construction and financing of one and two family houses of the Federal Reserve Board's regulation "X," which sharply increases required down payments on new houses and all home loans that are guaranteed, insured or made by any governmental agency.

It was pointed out during the meeting that advocates for expansion of public housing have taken advantage of previous emergency periods to gain their ends. As an example, it was stated that during World War 2 public housers succeeded in their efforts to bring defense housing under the public housing banner and in the post-war period their efforts to bring veterans' housing into the public housing sphere of influence succeeded.

Mr. Ford called to the attention of the members the announced objectives of the controls on residential construction as being designed to help reduce the currently high inflationary pressures, by restricting the flow of funds into the mortgage market and, through the reduction of new home construction activity next year, to assure that materials and labor required for the defense program will be available when needed.

The report stated that inasmuch as public housing is wholly financed by borrowed money, its inflationary pressures are much greater than is the case in the financing of the construction of one and two family houses, where the purchaser must furnish a portion of the cost.

The new regulations now require purchasers of new houses to make a cash payment of as much as 50 per cent of the purchase price.

The report also noted that, in general, the type of structure erected by public housing authorities calls for a much higher relative proportion of materials required for the defense program than is customarily used in one and two family houses.

Mr. Ford reports that the insured savings associations which are members of the council had resources of $467,000,000 on September 30, 1950. During the first three quarters of the current year these savings associations have made 11,480 mortgages principally on homes under $20,000 for an aggregate amount of $89,145,508. 44 per cent of these loans were for the construction of new houses and 25 per cent was advanced to G.I.'s under the program of the Veterans Administration.

Against Expansion Of Public Housing During Controls

"No new public housing should be started during the period when residential construction is subject to restrictive controls" is the conclusion reached by the Housing Committee of the Council of Insured Savings Associations of New York state, in a report adopted at a meeting held last week.

The meeting was called by David Ford, president of the council, to study the effect on the construction and financing of one and two family houses of the Federal Reserve Board's regulation "X," which sharply increases required down payments on new houses and all home loans that are guaranteed, insured or made by any governmental agency.

It was pointed out during the meeting that advocates for expansion of public housing have taken advantage of previous emergency periods to gain their ends. As an example, it was stated that during World War 2 public housers succeeded in their efforts to bring defense housing under the public housing banner and in the post-war period their efforts to bring veterans' housing into the public housing sphere of influence succeeded.

Mr. Ford called to the attention of the members the announced objectives of the controls on residential construction, as being designed to help reduce the currently high inflationary pressures, by restricting the flow of funds into the mortgage market and, through the reduction of new home construction activity next year, to assure that materials and labor required for the defense program will be available when needed.

The report stated that inasmuch as public housing is wholly financed by borrowed money, its inflationary pressures are much greater than is the case in the financing of the construction of one and two family houses, where the purchaser must furnish a portion of the cost.

The new regulations now require purchasers of new houses to make a cash payment of as much as 50 per cent of the purchase price.

The report also noted that, in general, the type of structure erected by public housing authorities calls for a much higher relative proportion of materials required for the defense program than is customarily used in one and two family houses.

Mr. Ford reports that the insured savings associations which are members of the council had resources of $467,000,000 on September 30, 1950. During the first three quarters of the current year these savings associations have made 11,480 mortgages principally on homes under $20,000 for an aggregate amount of $89,145,508. 44 per cent of these loans were for the construction of new houses and 25 per cent was advanced to G.I.'s under the program of the Veterans Administration.

POOR ED!

With the possible exception of Nero's fiddle act, the most expensive fracas in show business history is the one currently going on between NBC and CBS over that choice hunk of television time — 8 to 9 on Sunday nights.

The first hint I had of this hassle was back in March when Joe McConnell, the pleasant-mannered bossman of NBC, stopped in one afternoon and offered me more than a modicum of moolah to produce a series of Sunday night shows in opposition to Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" on CBS. I dribbled the notion around for a fortnight and then dropped Mr. McConnell a note telling him that while I was flattered fit to bust, I wasn't particularly anxious, for biological reasons, to take on the chore of producing a 60-minute musical every seven days.

Not long after, Mr. McConnell and his associates came up with a much more ambitious Sock-Sullivan formula—one which, on the face of it, seemed sure-pop. It was to produce four shows a month, each costing anywhere between $25,000 and $50,000, and starring in sequence Eddie Cantor, Fred Allen, Martin and Lewis, and Bobby Clark. And when this announcement hit the trade papers, all you heard up and down Broadway was "Poor Ed!"

Well, the results of this big cathode splurge are beginning to come in, and as of this writing—according to the audience pollsters—Sullivan's rating is substantially higher than that of the opposition shows. And therein, as sure as God made little sponsors, lies a lollapalooza of a lesson for those who are trying to tycoon television into a worthy entertainment medium.

As I mull it, what Sullivan's show has in disarming abundance, and what his opposition has everything but, is a precious little commodity called simplicity. "Toast of the Town" is an unabashed and relatively unadorned variety show, based on the oldest formula in show business: sign up a bunch of performers who have devoted a lifetime to learning how to do one trick—and then get out of the way and let them do their stuff.

The high-priced gents producing in competition to Ed, however, refuse to get out of the way. They keep hamstringing their stars with elaborate production gimmicks—soupy ballet sequences, contrived comic sketches and "50-Beautiful-Girls Count-'em"—unmindful of the fact that most shots with more than three people look like so much oscillating mush on a 16-inch screen.

Take what happened to old Gladstone-Eyes. When he's right, Fred Allen is the best comic this side of Congress, but even he couldn't stand off the gaudy hash in his first program. Fred's second show was better—for twenty happy-making minutes he and Portland cuddled up to the camera and did what comes natcherly—but just as I was about to send him a congratulatory wire, on came a meandering mishmash about a Scotch wedding and Allen was lost in the shimmering shuffle.

To prove that this doesn't have to happen, may I cite the case of George Burns and Gracie Allen who recently made their TV debut minus fluff and folderol. The atmosphere was easy and informal—and the outstanding trick of presentation was that no tricks were used at all.

It's my hunch that until NBC's Sunday night comics go and do likewise, they won't be seeing much of Sullivan but his heels.

From Cosmetics to Mining

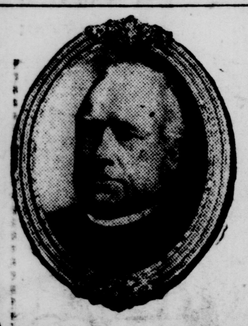

Sydney (AP)—A 50-year-old Sydney widow gave up a cosmetics factory to become a prospector—and struck it rich. She is Mrs. Mildred Makinson, who has found a big wolf-ram deposit on the Tennant Creek goldfield in the Northern Territory. Wolfram, used in making steel, is worth 1200 Australian pounds a ton. Mrs. Makinson is the only woman prospector on the Tennant Creek field. She knows how to handle a pneumatic drill, and does many other jobs on her lease. She employs some miners who help with the heavy work.

Reds Sell Vienna Houses

Vienna (AP) — House-hungry Vienna is gaining something from Communism. The real estate market in the Austrian capital has suddenly taken a turn for the better. Scores of houses and offices whose owners live in nearby Communist Hungary are being offered for sale. Vienna newspapers report that Hungarian owners have been forced to turn over their rights to the Communist government. And the government now is selling all the property—and keeping the cash.

POOR ED!

With the possible exception of Nero's fiddle act, the most expensive fracas in show business history is the one currently going on between NBC and CBS over that choice hunk of television time — 8 to 9 on Sunday nights.

The first hint I had of this hassle was back in March when Joe McConnell, the pleasant-mannered bossman of NBC, stopped in one afternoon and offered me more than a modicum of moolah to produce a series of Sunday night shows in opposition to Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" on CBS. I dribbled the notion around for a fortnight and then dropped Mr. McConnell a note telling him that while I was flattered fit to bust, I wasn't particularly anxious, for biological reasons, to take on the chore of producing a 60-minute musical every seven days.

Not long after, Mr. McConnell and his associates came up with a much more ambitious Sock-Sullivan formula—one which, on the face of it, seemed sure-pop. It was to produce four shows a month, each costing anywhere between $25,000 and $50,000, and starring in sequence Eddie Cantor, Fred Allen, Martin and Lewis, and Bobby Clark. And when this announcement hit the trade papers, all you heard up and down Broadway was "Poor Ed!"

Well, the results of this big cathode splurge are beginning to come in, and as of this writing—according to the audience pollsters—Sullivan's rating is substantially higher than that of the opposition shows. And therein, as sure as God made little sponsors, lies a lollapalooza of a lesson for those who are trying to tycoon television into a worthy entertainment medium.

As I mull it, what Sullivan's show has in disarming abundance, and what his opposition has everything but, is a precious little commodity called simplicity. "Toast of the Town" is an unabashed and relatively unadorned variety show, based on the oldest formula in show business: sign up a bunch of performers who have devoted a lifetime to learning how to do one trick—and then get out of the way and let them do their stuff.

The high-priced gents producing in competition to Ed, however, refuse to get out of the way. They keep hamstringing their stars with elaborate production gimmicks—soupy ballet sequences, contrived comic sketches and "50-Beautiful-Girls Count-'em" —unmindful of the fact that most shots with more than three people look like so much oscillating mush on a 16-inch screen.

Take what happened to old Gladstone-Eyes. When he's right, Fred Allen is the best comic this side of Congress, but even he couldn't stand off the gaudy hash in his first program. Why Politics Stinks

By FRANK TRIPP

There are a lot of double-crossers, satellites and leechs in politics who call themselves politicians, to the discredit of men who deserve the name. What it takes to be a politician is what too many who aspire to be one haven't got.

Misuse of the title has become a national injustice to the straight-shooters who practice politics as a science and not as a racket. Politics, honestly practiced in the public interest, is an essential science of our democratic system.

But it has become a common expression that "an honest man has no place in politics."

That so many engage in politics for strictly selfish and sometimes dishonest reasons has given politics a bad name and disfavor in the public eye; caused the term politician to be widely suspected by the people.

Many useful citizens who would glorify politics stay out and shun participation in public affairs, where they are sorely needed. They dare not risk the merciless tactics of the ruthless who are out to win by whatever fair or foul means seem to point to success. The smear has become a favorite and cowardly weapon—which the people are beginning to resent.

IT IS NOT always necessary to cross party lines to find the kind of bitterness and hate that makes for the dirtiest kind of politics. Not infrequently it crops out inside the ranks of a party and so bewilders voters that they lose faith in our political system.

That is where the old time man-in-the-street loyalty to party has gone—to the dogs. Because would-be leaders so often knife each other and battle even to the political death of one of their own number when they cannot rule the roost.

Typical is the current campaign in New York state. A two-time aspirant for the presidency and a frail, half blind old man are feeling the sting of hatred that exists within their own party, and getting nationwide attention.

It was in the modern manner of campaigning, and to be expected, that their opponents would make exaggerated use of a sick man's blunder. Politics in time of battle can be relentlessly cruel.

This couldn't possibly refer to anyone but Thomas E. Dewey and his lieutenant governor,, Joe Hanley, nor to anything but the tragic Hanley letter; which the Democrats assert, and Hanley denies, confessed that he was bought off from his life's ambition to run for governor, so that Dewey might run.

It would be a distinct pleasure to be able to expose the Republican Judas or his stool pigeon who crucified Joe Hanley by putting a personal letter to a long-time friend into the hands of the enemy.

Somebody who hates Tom Dewey far more than do his Democratic opponents betrayed his own party and wrote a sad chapter in Joe Hanley's long public record—just to get Dewey.

THIS WAS not kosher in the language of even the most partisan politician. It was treason. Such are not acts which make a man worthy of the name politician. It would be a noble project for trustworthy politicians to expose and disown such practitioners and expel them from party ranks. To the end that public confidence might be restored to what should be accepted as an honorable career—that of politician.

Some really great politicians have been among this writer's acquaintances; men who had what it takes. There were certain characteristics common to all of them.

They were hard fighters, but good losers. They were loyal to their party and its members under all circumstances. They respected leadership, though often they did not like it. Their family rows ended when a nomination was made. They were not petty. Their word was good. They were game, good-natured, charitable and cordial, even to their opponents. When the fight was over, everybody shook hands.

They put up a public front that was a credit to politics. They attracted brilliant young men into a service which is vital to society and to our economy. They made it safe for prominent and busy citizens to take part in the affairs of community and state—in the confidence that their opponents were in front of them; not false friends, standing with a knife at their backs.

Should Dewey and Hanley win this Tuesday, or either of them, New Yorkers are agreed that it will be as much in rebuke to back stabbers as confidence in Republican leadership.

Sheep's Teeth Gold-Plated

Melbourne, Australia (AP)—A man who bought a set of sheep's jaws for six cents in a Melbourne butcher shop recently found that the teeth were encrusted with gold. The buyer, W. H. Chirgwin of Sutton street, East St. Kilda, said he believed the sheep picked up the gold while cropping short grass over an alluvial deposit. Chirgwin said that he would not try to trace the gold. "I'll just bequeath the small pieces I have to my children," he declared.

Ballots by the Spear

Malakal, Sudan (AP)—Nuer tribesmen in this isolated Upper Nile province picked their first district council in a secret ballot recently. Each candidate laid his spear alongside an empty gasoline can. Voters walked up one by one and each dropped a stone in the tin of his choice. The headmen then counted the stones.

Original purpose of milling money was to prevent the fraudulent removal of metal and to protect the coins from wear.

Cue-Bidding Can Be a Real Help

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"We got into jam on the bidding of this hand," confesses a New Orleans reader. "Obviously we shouldn't reach a slam, but we can't think of a logical way to avoid it."

This is an interesting hand and an interesting problem. There is a way for good players to explore slam possibilities on hands of this type without getting to unmakable slams.

When North bids three clubs he is clearly making a cue-bid. He may have the ace of clubs and he may be void of clubs. (In the actual hand, South has the ace of clubs and therefore knows that his partner is void of the suit; but North cannot be sure that his partner will be able to read the situation.) North cannot, of course, have a real club suit. If he did, he would double two clubs for penalties instead of bidding three clubs.

When North bids four no-trump at his next term, he is asking how many aces South has (Blackwood Convention). It is clear he could have done so without first going to the trouble of bidding three clubs. Why, then, did he first make that bid?

There can be only one answer: He wants to show that there are no losers in clubs and that he is interested only in the aces of the other three suits.

If South reads this message, he must give the negative response of five clubs, showing no ace outside of clubs. It was a mistake to bid five diamonds, showing one ace.

With this sort of understanding, North can confidently bid a slam if South shows an ace; and can bid a grand slam if South shows two aces. If South shows no ace (as he should have, in the actual hand), North stops at five spades.

These hands don't come up very often, but they count for a lot of points when they do occur. It's wise to remember that when either partner makes a cue-bid, a later bid of four no-trump asks for aces outside of the cue-bid suit.

November 18th Last To Apply for College

High school graduates and college students have just two weeks, or until November 18, to submit application for the navy's college training program (NROTC), the commandant of the Third Naval District announced today.

The program, which offers four years at one of the 52 accredited colleges or universities leading to a regular degree and a commission in the regular navy, marine corps or the naval or marine corps reserve is open to young men between the ages of 17 and 21 and male citizens of the United States. They can apply to their principal, dean, or nearest navy recruiting office, for application forms.

In addition to the age limits, applicants must be unmarried, meet the same physical and mental standards required of candidates for the U. S. Naval Academy and successfully pass the college aptitude test. Prospective candidates should check their physical condition with their family doctor and dentist. The examination itself will be given on December 9 in 550 cities in the 48 states as well as Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone.

EXPLODING THE DEWEY MYTH

After eight years of the Dewey administration, New York State still lags behind in Education – Schools – Hospitals – Adequate Highways – State Aid to cities and towns – although the New York State budget has increased proportionately more than that of any other state in the nation.

The Post War reconstruction fund of $673,000,000 for the Thruway, schools and hospitals has disappeared. Where did this huge sum of money go?

The tax burden, which should be borne by the state, has been shifted to localities which made increased bonded indebtedness necessary for cities, towns and counties.

Here is how your county tax rate and cost of government compares with four comparable counties:

	Pop.	Gov. Cost	Cost Per Capita	Raised by Taxes
Orange	140,000	$2,091,434	$14.93	$1,060,000
Dutchess	120,000	1,774,429	14.79	1,371,000
Ulster	87,000	3,060,133	35.18	1,216,000
Broome	165,000	2,303,433	13.93	1,128,000

(These figures were obtained from the latest published New York State Comptroller's Report, a Republican office-holder!)

The Republican administration in Ulster County has followed the pattern set by Dewey in Albany!

The man, capable of the ruthlessness of the pay-off tactics, as exposed by the Hanley letter, is not entitled to the confidence of the People of this State.

GIVE THE GOVERNMENT BACK TO THE PEOPLE

Policy Has Big

President and his political friends with "coddling" Chinese Communists, asserting that this policy had forced young Americans into bloody battle with the Reds in the mountains of North Korea.

The President maintained his optimism that Democrats will sweep to a large-scale victory in tomorrow's congressional voting. William M. Boyle, Jr., the party's national chairman, predicated that Democrats will pick up two to four seats in the Senate and strengthen their control of the House.

Refraining from specific last-minute forecasts, Guy G. Gabrielson, the Republican national chairman, stressed events in Korea.

Gabrielson asserted in a pre-election statement that a Republican Congress is needed to insure two-party government if Chinese Communist intervention in Korea leads to "a ghastly world war III."

Despite the furore and shouting over national issues, voters in some states apparently were paying more attention to local conditions than to nation-wide questions.

Interest in the 32 state governor contests centered on California and New York, where Republican chief executives are bidding for third terms.

Warren Is Silent

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York says he won't run again for the GOP presidential nomination which he has had twice. But there is no such word from Gov. Earl Warren of California, Dewey's running mate in 1948. Warren will have to defeat James Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, to win a third term.

There are now 29 Democrats and 19 Republicans in governors' chairs.

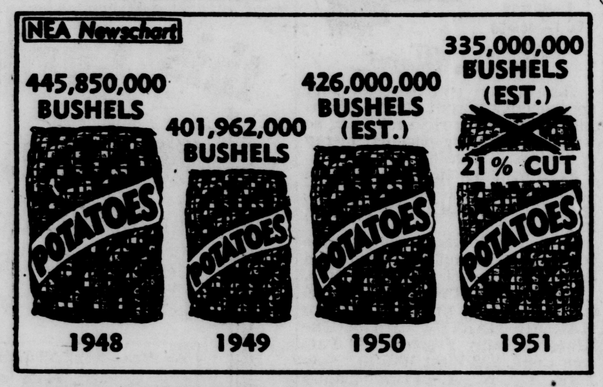

In Congress, the Republicans need to gain seven Senate seats and 49 in the House to take over control.

Most newspaper political writers were chary of predictions—remembering 1948 when President Truman confounded the experts—but the average forecast was for slight gains for the Republicans in a very close election.

There were indications of split votes in many states, with the possibility voiced that in some Democratic senatorial candidates would win while Republican governors were being elected—or the reverse.

TOO MANY "SPUDS"—This Shamong, Pa., farm workman shovels potatoes that have been dyed by the government and sold as surplus to farmers for cattle feeding. The "spuds," bought to keep up price levels, are colored to prevent their resale at a profit for human consumption.

CUTBACK ON POTATOES—The government has warned potato growers that they must trim next year's output by 21 per cent—91,000,000 bushels—to avoid surpluses which would force down prices. Congress has ruled out potato price guarantees after 1950 because of the storm of protest over the government's practice of buying up and destroying spuds to keep prices at a so-called fair level. Newschart above gives potato production figures for 1948-51.

Says War Orders

and Allies. The plan now is about half finished.

It will attempt to schedule evenly the flow of military orders to prevent temporary shutdowns or layoffs.

Marshall did not estimate how deeply the defense effort will bite into civilian goods production, but his remarks served to allay fears that civilian cutbacks might bring a temporary "recession" in early 1951 until military production hits its stride.

Marshall indicated a third supplemental military appropriation to be asked when Congress reconvenes this month will not be great enough to compel sudden new slashes in civilian production.

The secretary, it also was learned, is not yet prepared to make an estimate of how much the United States should plan for defense for fiscal 1952, starting next July 1. Some officials have estimated $55,000,000,000 may be needed, but other guesses have ranged considerably lower.

Births

The city registrar recorded 91 births in October. This was 17 less than in September and 16 under the October, 1949, total.

Births recorded recently were:

Oct. 29—Thomas Carlyle to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Dittus, 61 Furnace street.

Oct. 30—Harry Donley to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Charles Banks, Eddyville, and Lynn Suzanne to Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Swanson, 51 Fairmont avenue.

Connelly for Appointments;

city and have discussed the questions with them and find that their opinions are the same as mine.

It seems to me that the question of appointment or election should be measured in the light of the experience of our city with the appointment system over the years. Has it worked out well or have there been flagrant abuses? It is my opinion that the appointment system in our city has been good. Many of our leading citizens of both parties and of different groups have served competently and faithfully and have given a vast amount of their time to the problems of the board. Their work has been a manifestation of the highest type of good citizenship. All mayors, whether they have been Democrats or Republicans, have sought out the best people available in making their appointments to the Board of education. There has been no abuse of the appointment system and a sound and respected tradition has been built up in Kingston of the complete independence of the board. Irrelevant external considerations have not motivated the board in the past in trying to give us the best educational system possible and there is no reason to assume that they will operate in the future under an appointment system.

City Has Independence

It may be asked if the system has worked out well in the past why vote on a change now. The referendum is the result of changes in the state law giving more financial independence to all school districts in the state. In Kingston, however, the Board of Education has had financial independence in the adoption of its annual budget and fixing the school tax rate. It is true that under existing law the school budget is sent to the Common Council but this has been a meaningless procedure since the Board of Education could always adopt its budget over the veto of the Common Council. It does not seem to me, therefore, that so far as Kingston is concerned there is any added power in this respect under the new law. There will be a difference in the power of the board to issue bonds, since bond proposals in the future will not go to the Common Council but will be obligations of the City of Kingston School District and not of the city itself. The amount of bonds any school district can issue will be limited by a percentage of the assessed valuation. The limitations of law will control any board, whether appointed or elected.

The elective system in some cities has worked out well, and in other cities it has not. Usually at special school elections the percentage of eligible voters exercising their right to vote is very small. In some communities the predominant population group has been able to elect all the members and exclude other groups. In Newburgh in recent years they changed from the appointive to the elective system. Most people in Newburgh feel that the elective system has not worked out well and that constant turmoil and divergent pressures have injured their educational system.

Argument Is Generality

The chief argument I read being advanced for the elective system in Kingston is that it is more democratic. This argument is a glittering generality with surface appeal but is about as substantial as a cigarette ash. Under our system of government we elect representatives who make appointments. We elect a president of the United States who makes hundreds of thousands of appointments. It may be more democratic to elect postmasters, collectors of internal revenue and all people appointed by the federal government but the argument that such would be more in the nature of a true democracy does not carry much weight. We also elect a governor of our state, who directly or indirectly, appoints thousands of office holders. To carry the argument that it is more democratic to elect one step further with respect to education, I suppose you can also say it would be more democratic to elect our teachers. The appointment system is not conceived to be an offense against our representative system of government.

It has been said that we should elect members of the board of education because we elect members of the Common Council. This argument is specious since the Common Council is one of the three coordinate branches of government under the American system of separation of the executive, legislative and judicial functions.

I have not observed any discussion of the cost of the elective system, but since any school election would be a special election in May there would be involved a cost of about $4,000 in conducting the election.

Because the appointive system has worked out well in Kingston, I recommend a "Yes" vote tomorrow on the paper ballot to be given each voter with the question: shall the Mayor continue to appoint members of the Board of Education.

Policy Has Big

President and his political friends with "coddling" Chinese Communists, asserting that this policy had forced young Americans into bloody battle with the Reds in the mountains of North Korea.

The President maintained his optimism that Democrats will sweep to a large-scale victory in tomorrow's congressional voting. William M. Boyle, Jr., the party's national chairman, predicated that Democrats will pick up two to four seats in the Senate and strengthen their control of the House.

Refraining from specific last-minute forecasts, Guy G. Gabrielson, the Republican national chairman, stressed events in Korea.

Gabrielson asserted in a pre-election statement that a Republican Congress is needed to insure two-party government if Chinese Communist intervention in Korea leads to "a ghastly world war III."

Despite the furore and shouting over national issues, voters in some states apparently were paying more attention to local conditions than to nation-wide questions.

Interest in the 32 state governor contests centered on California and New York, where Republican chief executives are bidding for third terms.

Warren Is Silent

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York says he won't run again for the GOP presidential nomination which he has had twice. But there is no such word from Gov. Earl Warren of California, Dewey's running mate in 1948. Warren will have to defeat James Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, to win a third term.

There are now 29 Democrats and 19 Republicans in governors' chairs.

In Congress, the Republicans need to gain seven Senate seats and 49 in the House to take over control.

Most newspaper political writers were chary of predictions—remembering 1948 when President Truman confounded the experts—but the average forecast was for slight gains for the Republicans in a very close election.

There were indications of split votes in many states, with the possibility voiced that in some Democratic senatorial candidates would win while Republican governors were being elected—or the reverse.

and Allies. The plan now is about half finished.

It will attempt to schedule evenly the flow of military orders to prevent temporary shutdowns or layoffs.

Marshall did not estimate how deeply the defense effort will bite into civilian goods production, but his remarks served to allay fears that civilian cutbacks might bring a temporary "recession" in early 1951 until military production hits its stride.

Marshall indicated a third supplemental military appropriation to be asked when Congress reconvenes this month will not be great enough to compel sudden new slashes in civilian production.

The secretary, it also was learned, is not yet prepared to make an estimate of how much the United States should plan for defense for fiscal 1952, starting next July 1. Some officials have estimated $55,000,000,000 may be needed, but other guesses have ranged considerably lower.

Births

The city registrar recorded 91 births in October. This was 17 less than in September and 16 under the October, 1949, total.

Births recorded recently were:

Oct. 29—Thomas Carlyle to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Dittus, 61 Furnace street.

Oct. 30—Harry Donley to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Charles Banks, Eddyville, and Lynn Suzanne to Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Swanson, 51 Fairmont avenue.

Oct. 31—Lois Marie to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. LaBonte, 5 West Union street; Arlene Ellen to Mr. and Mrs. David Kushner, 169 Washington avenue, and Barbara Ellen to Mr. and Mrs. John Phalen, 86 Foxhall avenue.

CUTBACK ON POTATOES—The government has warned potato growers that they must trim next year's output by 21 per cent—91,000,000 bushels—to avoid surpluses which would force down prices. Congress has ruled out potato price guarantees after 1950 because of the storm of protest over the government's practice of buying up and destroying spuds to keep prices at a so-called fair level. Newschart above gives potato production figures for 1948-51.

Connelly for Appointments;

city and have discussed the questions with them and find that their opinions are the same as mine.

It seems to me that the question of appointment or election should be measured in the light of the experience of our city with the appointment system over the years. Has it worked out well or have there been flagrant abuses? It is my opinion that the appointment system in our city has been good. Many of our leading citizens of both parties and of different groups have served competently and faithfully and have given a vast amount of their time to the problems of the board. Their work has been a manifestation of the highest type of good citizenship. All mayors, whether they have been Democrats or Republicans, have sought out the best people available in making their appointments to the Board of education. There has been no abuse of the appointment system and a sound and respected tradition has been built up in Kingston of the complete independence of the board. Irrelevant external considerations have not motivated the board in the past in trying to give us the best educational system possible and there is no reason to assume that they will operate in the future under an appointment system.

City Has Independence

It may be asked if the system has worked out well in the past why vote on a change now. The referendum is the result of changes in the state law giving more financial independence to all school districts in the state. In Kingston, however, the Board of Education has had financial independence in the adoption of its annual budget and fixing the school tax rate. It is true that under existing law the school budget is sent to the Common Council but this has been a meaningless procedure since the Board of Education could always adopt its budget over the veto of the Common Council. It does not seem to me, therefore, that so far as Kingston is concerned there is any added power in this respect under the new law. There will be a difference in the power of the board to issue bonds, since bond proposals in the future will not go to the Common Council but will be obligations of the City of Kingston School District and not of the city itself. The amount of bonds any school district can issue will be limited by a percentage of the assessed valuation. The limitations of law will control any board, whether appointed or elected.

The elective system in some cities has worked out well, and in other cities it has not. Usually at special school elections the percentage of eligible voters exercising their right to vote is very small. In some communities the predominant population group has been able to elect all the members and exclude other groups. In Newburgh in recent years they changed from the appointive to the elective system. Most people in Newburgh feel that the elective system has not worked out well and that constant turmoil and divergent pressures have injured their educational system.

Argument Is Generality

The chief argument I read being advanced for the elective system in Kingston is that it is more democratic. This argument is a glittering generality with surface appeal but is about as substantial as a cigarette ash. Under our system of government we elect representatives who make appointments. We elect a president of the United States who makes hundreds of thousands of appointments. It may be more democratic to elect postmasters, collectors of internal revenue and all people appointed by the federal government but the argument that such would be more in the nature of a true democracy does not carry much weight. We also elect a governor of our state, who directly or indirectly, appoints thousands of office holders. To carry the argument that it is more democratic to elect one step further with respect to education, I suppose you can also say it would be more democratic to elect our teachers. The appointment system is not conceived to be an offense against our representative system of government.

It has been said that we should elect members of the board of education because we elect members of the Common Council. This argument is specious since the Common Council is one of the three coordinate branches of government under the American system of separation of the executive, legislative and judicial functions.

I have not observed any discussion of the question of the cost of the elective system, but since any school election would be a special election in May there would be involved a cost of about $4,000 in conducting the election.

Because the appointive system has worked out well in Kingston, I recommend a "Yes" vote tomorrow on the paper ballot to be given each voter with the question: shall the Mayor continue to appoint members of the Board of Education.

IN FRONT OF THE RIBBONS

The following letter asks about a wedding preparation which is confusing to many: "At a church wedding who sits 'in front of the ribbons' and please explain to us just how this is managed in simplest manner."

A number of front pews are reserved for the immediate family and very fewest most intimate friends. This number naturally depends on the size of family and number of friends. A barrier is made of white ribbon across the aisle which reserves these few front rows. All other guests are seated behind—first come, best seats.

Who Is Best Man

Dear Mrs. Post: My finance does not want to have to choose between his two brothers to serve as best man. Do you think that having his father serve would solve the problem? (His parents are divorced in case that would alter your answer.)

Answer: Having the bridegroom's father serve as best man is by no means unusual.

Preparing for Christmas

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend has had much sickness this past year and there are many unpaid bills still. She would like not to use any money to send the usual Christmas presents, but she doesn't know how to go about telling the different ones—many of whom have no real idea of her family's indebtedness. Would it be sufficient for her just to send them nice personal messages in lieu of gifts or would that be unfair and should something be sent ahead of time so the others won't send her family gifts?

Answer: I think it would be quite proper for her to write on a Christmas card: "Because of the expense of my long illness, this is all the Christmas present I am able to send you this year—so please cross me off this year, too. Wishing you the happiest Christmas ever. Love, Mary." If they then send her something, she should appreciate their kindness and not worry about giving a present in return.

Invitation Replies

Dear Mrs. Post: To whom is an envelope addressed when replying to a formal wedding invitation?

Answer: To the name or names heading the invitation.

Cranberry Relish Sparks Turkey

Jellied Cranberry Relish for the Thanksgiving turkey.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

For brilliant color in the Thanksgiving menu serve this jellied cranberry molded salad:

Jellied Cranberry Relish Salad

Two cups fresh cranberries, 1 lemon, quartered and seeded; 1 apple, peeled, cored and quartered; 1 orange, quartered and seeded; 1 cup sugar, 1 package fruit-flavored gelatin.

Put cranberries and fruit through food chopper. Combine with sugar and let stand a few hours to blend. Prepare fruit-flavored gelatin as directed on package, reducing water by ¼ cup; chill until syrupy. Stir into drained cranberry relish mixture. Fill mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce or watercress and serve garnished with orange sections.

Or if you want your cranberries in the salad course, just combine pineapple and pears, bananas and walnuts, lettuce and watercress. Top off with a generous handful of crunchy fresh cranberries for color and texture.

Finally—and what an old-fashioned and zestful end to the Big Meal of the Year—there's cranberry pie.

Grandmother's Cranberry Pie.

One recipe favorite pastry, 2¼ cups sugar, ½ cup water, ¼ cup raisins, 2 cups apple slices, 4 cups fresh cranberries, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons water.

Roll out half of pastry and fit into 9-inch pan. Combine sugar, water, raisins, apple slices and cranberries in saucepan. Cook until cranberries pop—about 10 minutes. Make a paste of cornstarch and remaining water, stir into fruit and continue cooking until thick and clear — about 5 minutes. Cool and pour into pie shell. Roll out remaining pastry and cut in strips. Arrange criss-cross fashion over top. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 25 minutes.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit juice, oatmeal, raisin toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

THANKSGIVING DINNER: Chilled clam and tomato juice, roast turkey, giblet gravy, jellied cranberry relish, baked potatoes, mashed turnips, spinach, with sieved egg yolk, crusty rolls, cider, celery and olives, steamed carrot pudding, foamy lemon sauce, coffee, milk, nuts, raisins.

Football Queen Contest Winds Up In School Dispute

Decatur, Tenn., Nov. 6 (AP)—A dispute over selection of a high school football queen has closed all Meigs county schools and boiled up into a hot political fight.

State officials have decreed the schools, with 1,600 enrollment will lose state funds unless the dispute is settled. The schools shut down Friday.

Annette Hipps, 16, won the beauty contest in which more than $800 was collected at a penny a vote. The money was to buy football team sweaters.

Science Teacher D. B. Powell, who sponsored an unsuccessful candidate, protested. He declined to make public his grounds, but Principal A. B. Culvahouse said Powell charged his brother, Robert Culvahouse, who sponsored Miss Hipps, with a "discrepancy" in accounting.

Political lines were drawn. Powell is a Democrat and the Culvahouse brothers are Republicans.

The county school board met and ordered Powell and A. B. Culvahouse to apologize. That failed to settle anything, and the principal and five teachers resigned.

The board then transferred Powell, and the faculty resignations were withdrawn. At a third meeting, the board transferred both principal Culvahouse and Powell. Six faculty changes also were ordered.

On Friday Superintendent Dudley Culvahouse, brother of the high school teachers, closed all schools. He said three principals showed up at one grammer school that day and "turmoil and confusion" made it impossible to hold classes.

Powell said yesterday he will "say plenty" after tomorrow's election. He added that the Culvahouses "are trying to elect Walter White as state representative. We're trying to elect Mary Shadow."

Miss Shadow, pretty and brunette, is Tennessee's only woman legislator. She, a Democrat, unseated White, a Republican, two years ago.

The woman candidate said she knows no reason why the dispute should involve the election "unless it's because I have said I will keep the election of board members in the hands of voters rather than placing it in the county court."

An electronic fault-finder is used to achieve total perfection by manufacturers of band and orchestra instruments.

Eisners Tell Daughter's Experience in Congo

Woodstock, Nov. 6—Mr. and Mrs. William J. Eisner, who spent the past week-end at their Glasco turnpike home, recounted the further adventures of their daughter, Mrs. Patrick Putnam in her home in the heart of the Belgian Congo. Some months ago a leopard was killed in the vicinity of the hotel which Mr. and Mrs. Putnam maintain in the fascinating Pygmy country. At the time Putnam officiated as judge at a trial of a native into whose body the evil spirit of the leopard was supposed to have entered.

"Pat exonerated the unfortunate native all right," said Eisner, "his word is pretty much law around there as the natives hold him in great respect and honor."

The catching of the leopard and the happy conclusion of the trial was not the end, however. One night recently as Mr. and Mrs. Putnam sat reading in their living room, they heard a curious, stealthy sound outside. Pat told his wife to remain where she was and went outside with one of his native assistants to investigate. Some time later Anne Putnam received word that her husband wished her to come over to the dispensary, a nearby building. She went reluctantly and found that her husband and a number of natives had tracked down and caught the second leopard. She was shown the comforting evidence that the leopard had, prior to its capture, been circling their house in which they had been quietly sitting shortly before.

Women Artists Exhibit Paintings at Sea Horse

Woodstock, Nov. 6—With the winter gallery once more closed in, an exhibition of paintings by eminent women artists of Woodstock opened Saturday afternoon at the S.S. "Sea Horse." Outstanding in the show is a strikingly strong portrait of "Our Tina" by Peggy Maguire. In contrast are two delicately painted heads, charming and direct, by Martha King, of her two young daughters.

Gladys Brodsky's painting of a white house has a free and subtle touch and Rosella Hartman has contributed a cleverly contrived still life. One of Frances Stein's highly interesting street scenes, which was seen in her exhibition last summer, is a focal point in the show, as well as Cecile Forman's study of two women's heads.

Woodstock, Nov. 6—Mr. and Mrs. William Goudaket of Larchmont, spent the week-end in Woodstock.

Cornelius Sewell visited his mother Mrs. Cornelius Sewell, Sr., in Rye on Saturday.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Doris Lee Exhibition

Woodstock, Nov. 6—An exhibition of recent paintings by Doris Lee opened this afternoon with a reception at the Associated American Artists Gallery, 711 Fifth avenue, New York.

Eisners Tell Daughter's Experience in Congo

Woodstock, Nov. 6—Mr. and Mrs. William J. Eisner, who spent the past week-end at their Glasco turnpike home, recounted the further adventures of their daughter, Mrs. Patrick Putnam in her home in the heart of the Belgian Congo. Some months ago a leopard was killed in the vicinity of the hotel which Mr. and Mrs. Putnam maintain in the fascinating Pygmy country. At the time Putnam officiated as judge at a trial of a native into whose body the evil spirit of the leopard was supposed to have entered.

"Pat exonerated the unfortunate native all right," said Eisner, "his word is pretty much law around there as the natives hold him in great respect and honor."

The catching of the leopard and the happy conclusion of the trial was not the end, however. One night recently as Mr. and Mrs. Putnam sat reading in their living room, they heard a curious, stealthy sound outside. Pat told his wife to remain where she was and went outside with one of his native assistants to investigate. Some time later Anne Putnam received word that her husband wished her to come over to the dispensary, a nearby building. She went reluctantly and found that her husband and a number of natives had tracked down and caught the second leopard. She was shown the comforting evidence that the leopard had, prior to its capture, been circling their house in which they had been quietly sitting shortly before.

Women Artists Exhibit Paintings at Sea Horse

Woodstock, Nov. 6—With the winter gallery once more closed in, an exhibition of paintings by eminent women artists of Woodstock opened Saturday afternoon at the S.S. "Sea Horse." Outstanding in the show is a strikingly strong portrait of "Our Tina" by Peggy Maguire. In contrast are two delicately painted heads, charming and direct, by Martha King, of her two young daughters.

Gladys Brodsky's painting of a white house has a free and subtle touch and Rosella Hartman has contributed a cleverly contrived still life. One of Frances Stein's highly interesting street scenes, which was seen in her exhibition last summer, is a focal point in the show, as well as Cecile Forman's study of two women's heads.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Nov. 6—Mr. and Mrs. William Goudaket of Larchmont, spent the week-end in Woodstock.

Cornelius Sewell visited his mother Mrs. Cornelius Sewell, Sr., in Rye on Saturday.

ARE YOU THE ONE????

In a grocery store last week, there was a woman in a grey suit asking the clerk about butter. The clerk was offering her an unknown brand of butter. I heard her ask, "How does this butter compare with Hotel Bars?" "It's just as good", he said. Instead of keeping quiet (as I should), I piped up — "Lady, I make Hotel Bar Butter — why take a chance? This store — or any independent store (and many supermarkets) will give you genuine Hotel Bars if you say you want them."

Kingston High Beats Poughkeepsie, 20-0 for Fifth Straight Victory

Stroble, Koz, Modica Register Maroon TDs

Neither the weather man nor Kingston High's fabulous defensive machine disappointed a sparse gathering of rain-soaked, chilblained spectators Saturday at municipal stadium in the 21st renewal of football hostilities with Poughkeepsie High.

Yielding only 38 yards net rushing, the unconquered Maroons trampled the Blues, 20 to 0, in the murk, gloom and sea of mud.

Three quick breaking plays and one staunch display of defensive power wrapped up Kingston's third straight victory over Sam Kalloch's crew.

While the line performed magnificently and Harold Acker punted like a man inspired, the Kingston backfield handled the wet, soggy pigskin in flawless style. They picked up 203 yards rushing with 11 first downs to Poughkepsie's seven and yielded only in punting, where Eggie Johnson had a sensational 48-yard average for four punts and in passing, 84 yards to 19.

Tempers Flare

Three times in the second half tempers flared to fever pitch and only in the boxing department did the Blues have an advantage. They incurred 100 yards worth of penalties for various infractions, including a personal foul, while the Maroons were charged with 35 yards.

Late in the game, the officials ejected Muzzy Wright, Blue halfback, after Ferraro, substitute Maroon back, had been subjected to the treatment, once over and not too lightly.

Interceptions Hurt

Two pass interceptions — by Johnny Kozlowski and Carl Stroble—and a deflected aerial set up the three Kingston TDs. Kozlowski bucked over from the 2 after an interception. Modica travelled 20-yards on a blast through center and Stroble went 34 yards with an errant aerial.

Modica, Stroble and Carpino tore the Poughkeepsie ends and tacklers to shreds and on a dry field might have run up a much higher score. The Blues crowded all their offensive threats into one march that came to grief on the Kingston 20.

A 55-yard Kingston drive appeared halted in the first period when Earl McLane, Poughkeepsie end and son of a former .K.H.S. great, batted down a Stroble pass near the 5-yard line. But there was Kozlowski, Johnny on the spot, and the ball deflected straight into his arms. He was dragged down on the 2, but bucked over on the first play for a 6-0 lead. Lee Jackson's placement made it 7-0.

Blues Halted

The half ended 7-0 and Poughkeepsie made its lone scoring bid with the kickoff for the second half. With Tom Gloede passing beautifully and Wright and Johnson tearing up chunks of turf, they moved from the 34 to the Kingston 8 where Gloede was throw back to the 20 trying to get a pass away. The Blues eventually surrendered the ball on the 13.

The Blues tried passing from deep in their own territory late in the same quarter but Carl Stroble turned their good intentions to disaster with an interception on the 23. After Frank Modica picked up three yards on an end sweep, he broke through center for a 20-yard TD jaunt on one of the most spectacular, twisting runs of the campaign. Three different Poughkeepsie defenders had a shot at him, but each time he twisted out of their desperate clutches and crossed the goal line standing up. Jackson's placement was wide and Kingston led 13-0.

Shortly after Poughkeepsie downed a punt on their own 32 and Johnson lost three to the 29, Gloede uncorked another pass intended for left end McLane but Stroble grabbed it long before it arrived at its destination and scurried about 34 yards toward the coffin corner where he breezed over standing up. Jackson converted for 20-0 and that's where it stayed while both coaches substituted freely in the closing minutes.

Maroons Score

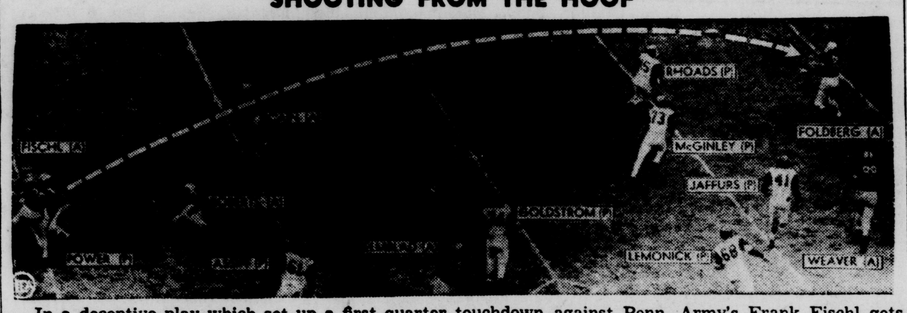

Al Carpino and Stroble alternated to carry the ball from the Kingston 45 to Poughkeepsie 31, with the help of one center smash by Kozlowski. Acker bolted to the 20 on a sweeping reverse and almost went all the way. Stroble picked up four and then lost five before he uncorked the pass that McLane batted into Kozlowski's waiting arms.

Modica was the whole show on the second TD, a 20-yard jaunt that would rate top TV billing of the week, if K.H.S. had tee-vee, while Stroble, a hard running back all day, moved briskly with his 34-yard pass interception.

Sam Kalloch's two good backs —Muzzy Wright and Leroy Johnson—distinguished themselves in the ill-fated drive from the second kickoff and Tom Gloede, the Blues' greatest all-round athlete, was quite a passer during that trek. He hit McKinley, Johnson and Pizzarelli for three long gainers, the last picking up 15 yards for a first down on the Kingston 8, the high water mark for the Blues' advances for the day.

Maroon followers know that Harold Acker is a better kicker than his record indicates and the East Kingston Flash performed like a champion on this damp, drizzly afternoon. His four punts averaged a brilliant 43.5 yards under the conditions. Johnson, the Poughkeepsie punter, was even better, getting 48 yards on his four tries.

SHOOTING FROM THE HOOF

In a deceptive play which set up a first quarter touchdown against Penn, Army's Frank Fischl gets an aerial off to end Dan Foldberg. Cadet quarterback Bob Blaik handed off to Fischl in what looked like an end sweep, but southpaw Fischl jammed on the brakes for the pass. Play netted 25 yards putting the ball on the 17-yard line from which the West Pointers later scored. Army chalked up its 26th straight victory, 28-13, in the Nov. 4th game at Philadelphia. Weaver Grabs First TD Pass for Army

Making his first TD catch of the season for the undefeated Army eleven, Big Ed Weaver was quite the photogenic lad in metropolitan coverage of the Army-Penn clash Saturday in Franklin Field, Philadelphia. Army won 28-13.

Army struck fast in the third period, going 58 yards in nine plays for the TD that put them ahead 14-6. Weaver made a sensational diving catch of Bobby Blaik's pass on the 17-yard line in that sequence and then snagged another Blaik pass in the end zone for the touchdown.

Several papers featured photos of Weaver's end zone catch and another showed him throwing a key block on a long gainer by Gene Filipski, the new Army find.

Meanwhile, Lehigh University, with Bill Kitsos in the lineup, and St. Lawrence, with Mike Rienzo, remained undefeated. Lehigh romped over Muhlenberg, 42-13, while St. Lawrence tripped Alfred, 17-6.

Bowling

Richard Howard set the scoring tempo in the Bowlodrome Mixed League and for a while it seemed that he might be heading for a "700." The man who never lets rain, slush, sleet or snow interfere with his appointed duties wound up with 623 after fashioning counts of 230-235 and 159.

Other leading scores were "Boots" Leskie's 200-575; Johnny Bechtold 212-571; Johnny Ferraro 202-205-566; Fred Rice 539; Pete Nagy 527; Sue Heins 512; Bill Murray 512; H. Schussler 514; B. McLaughlin 500.

Only two pins off the coveted "600" mark, Bill Schabot pounded the maples for 213-174-211-598 in the Bowlatorium Mixed loop. Steve Leone was in the runnerup spot with 200-571; Charlie Horne had 210-545; Joe Enright 535; J. North 202-534; H. Kapreilian 528; F. Zimmerman 518; Evelyn Gross 511; J. Burns 510; M. Sabin 507 and W. Johnson 202-501.

"Red" Sangi, the pre-war Seabiscuit of the bowling lanes, and Mary Daniels were the leading performers in the Central Rec mixed circuit with 632 and 444 respectively.

Sangi put together scores of 182, 225 and 225, while Mrs. Daniels shot 145-142-157-444. Joe Sangi made it a family affair by finishing second to "Red" with 219-564. Don Herzog had 223-532; R. Lawrence 517, Don Peterson 511; Ken Radel 509; O. Van Alstyne and Fred Buchanan 506 and F. Grimaldi 500.

Texas, California Set for Bowls After Impressive Wins Saturday

Longhorns Upend SMU; Bears Stop Huskies

By WILL GRIMSLEY

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The pieces of college football's bowl jig-saw, puzzle began falling into pace today, while Southern Methodist picked up the fragments of shattered title dreams.

The Mustangs' hopes of a national championship were dashed Saturday against a fierce Texas line which blunted SMU'S famed attack and ground out a 23-20 upset victory at Austin.

SMU, like Texas, however, remained a leading candidate for one of the top post-season bowl assignments.

In whipping the Mustangs, Texas became a stout favorite for the Southwest Conference crown and the Cotton Bowl host role that goes along with it.

SMU lost little of its glitter in the savagely played game with its aroused neighbor. It's hard to forget that the Mustangs hold the only decision over Ohio State, being acclaimed in some quarters as the best in the land.

Here's a long distance look at the bowls, subject, of course, to late November revision:

Rose and Pasadena, Calif.—California vs. Illinois.

Sugar at New Orleans—Kentucky vs. Southern Methodist.

Cotton at Dallas—Texas vs. Oklahoma.

Orange at Miami — Miami (Fla.) vs. Tennessee or Clemson.

California and Illinois put in sledgehammer licks for the rich Pasadena game with important victories Saturday.

California Surprises

Pappy Waldorf's Golden Bears flashed unexpected air might to beat favored Washington 14-7, at Seattle. It was the seventh straight conquest without defeat for the Californians.

Illinois, beaten only by Wisconsin, subdued Michigan, Big Ten co-champion, in a snowstorm at Ann Arbor, 7-0. Ohio State is ineligible to return to the coast under the conference rule that permits a team to go to the Rose Bowl only once in three years.

California has another rugged obstacle this week in up-and-coming UCLA, winner of its last three games. Illinois meets Iowa, 13-0 conqueror of Minnesota.

Unbeaten and untied Kentucky looks like a good bet to carry Dixie's banner in the Sugar Bowl against either SMU or Oklahoma. The Sooners have been New Orleans' feature attraction for the last two years and the sponsors may want a change of scenery. This would bring in the high-powered Mustangs.

Kentucky Clicks

It also probably would throw the Sooners into the Cotton or Orange bowls—most likely the Cotton because of southwest pressure for a return meeting with Texas. Oklahoma defeated Texas 14-13 Oct. 14.

Kentucky won its eighth straight game by upending Florida, 40-6, Saturday. The Wildcats, not pressed all year, play Mississippi State next.

Oklahoma stretched its string of victories to 27 by repelling Colorado, 27-18, cracking Cornell's winning record of the early twenties.

Miami is a natural for the Orange Bowl if it can maintain its unbeaten-untied pace. The Hurricanes play Louisville Friday night.

Tennessee, Clemson and Washington and Lee are other strong possibilities for the southern bowls.

Army repeatedly spurns bowl bids although there is talk the Cadets may be pressured this year into playing in the President's Cup affair, a new one, at Washington.

Women's Tourney

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—The New York State Women's Bowling Tournament will open March 30 at Binghamton. The tournament will continue for six weeks and the New York State Women's Bowling Association will hold its annual meeting April 21 at Binghamton.

State Lists 68 Ski Centers

Kingston High Beats Poughkeepsie, 20-0 for Fifth Straight Victory

Stroble, Koz, Modica Register Maroon TDs

Neither the weather man nor Kingston High's fabulous defensive machine disappointed a sparse gathering of rain-soaked, chilblained spectators Saturday at municipal stadium in the 21st renewal of football hostilities with Poughkeepsie High.

Yielding only 38 yards net rushing, the unconquered Maroons trampled the Blues, 20 to 0, in the murk, gloom and sea of mud.

Three quick breaking plays and one staunch display of defensive power wrapped up Kingston's third straight victory over Sam Kalloch's crew.

While the line performed magnificently and Harold Acker punted like a man inspired, the Kingston backfield handled the wet, soggy pigskin in flawless style. They picked up 203 yards rushing with 11 first downs to Poughkepsie's seven and yielded only in punting, where Eggie Johnson had a sensational 48-yard average for four punts and in passing, 84 yards to 19.

Tempers Flare

Three times in the second half tempers flared to fever pitch and only in the boxing department did the Blues have an advantage. They incurred 100 yards worth of penalties for various infractions, including a personal foul, while the Maroons were charged with 35 yards.

Late in the game, the officials ejected Muzzy Wright, Blue halfback, after Ferraro, substitute Maroon back, had been subjected to the treatment, once over and not too lightly.

Interceptions Hurt

Two pass interceptions — by Johnny Kozlowski and Carl Stroble—and a deflected aerial set up the three Kingston TDs. Kozlowski bucked over from the 2 after an interception. Modica travelled 20-yards on a blast through center and Stroble went 34 yards with an errant aerial.

Modica, Stroble and Carpino tore the Poughkeepsie ends and tacklers to shreds and on a dry field might have run up a much higher score. The Blues crowded all their offensive threats into one march that came to grief on the Kingston 20.

A 55-yard Kingston drive appeared halted in the first period when Earl McLane, Poughkeepsie end and son of a former .K.H.S. great, batted down a Stroble pass near the 5-yard line. But there was Kozlowski, Johnny on the spot, and the ball deflected straight into his arms. He was dragged down on the 2, but bucked over on the first play for a 6-0 lead. Lee Jackson's placement made it 7-0.

Blues Halted

The half ended 7-0 and Poughkeepsie made its lone scoring bid with the kickoff for the second half. With Tom Gloede passing beautifully and Wright and Johnson tearing up chunks of turf, they moved from the 34 to the Kingston 8 where Gloede was throw back to the 20 trying to get a pass away. The Blues eventually surrendered the ball on the 13.

The Blues tried passing from deep in their own territory late in the same quarter but Carl Stroble turned their good intentions to disaster with an interception on the 23. After Frank Modica picked up three yards on an end sweep, he broke through center for a 20-yard TD jaunt on one of the most spectacular, twisting runs of the campaign. Three different Poughkeepsie defenders had a shot at him, but each time he twisted out of their desperate clutches and crossed the goal line standing up. Jackson's placement was wide and Kingston led 13-0.

Shortly after Poughkeepsie downed a punt on their own 32 and Johnson lost three to the 29, Gloede uncorked another pass intended for left end McLane but Stroble grabbed it long before it arrived at its destination and scurried about 34 yards toward the coffin corner where he breezed over standing up. Jackson converted for 20-0 and that's where it stayed while both coaches substituted freely in the closing minutes.

Maroons Score

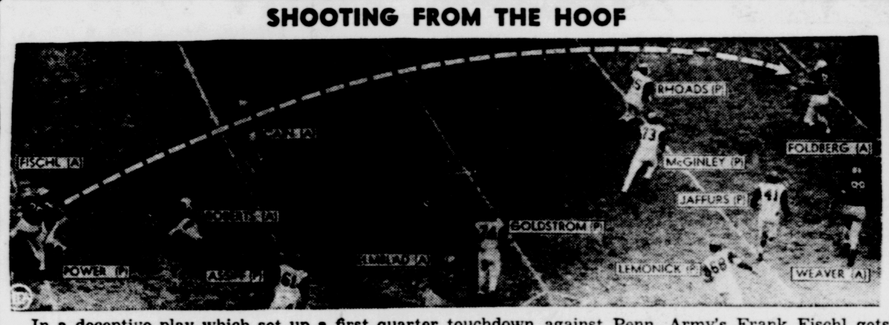

Al Carpino and Stroble alternated to carry the ball from the Kingston 45 to Poughkeepsie 31, with the help of one center smash by Kozlowski. Acker bolted to the 20 on a sweeping reverse and almost went all the way. Stroble picked up four and then lost five before he uncorked the pass that McLane batted into Kozlowski's waiting arms.

Modica was the whole show on the second TD, a 20-yard jaunt that would rate top TV billing of the week, if K.H.S. had tee-vee, while Stroble, a hard running back all day, moved briskly with his 34-yard pass interception.

Sam Kalloch's two good backs —Muzzy Wright and Leroy Johnson—distinguished themselves in the ill-fated drive from the second kickoff and Tom Gloede, the Blues' greatest all-round athlete, was quite a passer during that trek. He hit McKinley, Johnson and Pizzarelli for three long gainers, the last picking up 15 yards for a first down on the Kingston 8, the high water mark for the Blues' advances for the day.

Maroon followers know that Harold Acker is a better kicker than his record indicates and the East Kingston Flash performed like a champion on this damp, drizzly afternoon. His four punts averaged a brilliant 43.5 yards under the conditions. Johnson, the Poughkeepsie punter, was even better, getting 48 yards on his four tries.

SHOOTING FROM THE HOOF

In a deceptive play which set up a first quarter touchdown against Penn, Army's Frank Fischl gets an aerial off to end Dan Foldberg. Cadet quarterback Bob Blaik handed off to Fischl in what looked like an end sweep, but southpaw Fischl jammed on the brakes for the pass. Play netted 25 yards putting the ball on the 17-yard line from which the West Pointers later scored. Army chalked up its 26th straight victory, 28-13, in the Nov. 4th game at Philadelphia. Weaver Grabs First TD Pass for Army

Making his first TD catch of the season for the undefeated Army eleven, Big Ed Weaver was quite the photogenic lad in metropolitan coverage of the Army-Penn clash Saturday in Franklin Field, Philadelphia. Army won 28-13.

Army struck fast in the third period, going 58 yards in nine plays for the TD that put them ahead 14-6. Weaver made a sensational diving catch of Bobby Blaik's pass on the 17-yard line in that sequence and then snagged another Blaik pass in the end zone for the touchdown.

Several papers featured photos of Weaver's end zone catch and another showed him throwing a key block on a long gainer by Gene Filipski, the new Army find.

Meanwhile, Lehigh University, with Bill Kitsos in the lineup, and St. Lawrence, with Mike Rienzo, remained undefeated. Lehigh romped over Muhlenberg, 42-13, while St. Lawrence tripped Alfred, 17-6.

Texas, California Set for Bowls After Impressive Wins Saturday

Longhorns Upend SMU; Bears Stop Huskies

By WILL GRIMSLEY

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The pieces of college football's bowl jig-saw puzzle began falling into pace today, while Southern Methodist picked up the fragments of shattered title dreams.

The Mustangs' hopes of a national championship were dashed Saturday against a fierce Texas line which blunted SMU'S famed attack and ground out a 23-20 upset victory at Austin.

SMU, like Texas, however, remained a leading candidate for one of the top post-season bowl assignments.

In whipping the Mustangs, Texas became a stout favorite for the Southwest Conference crown and the Cotton Bowl host role that goes along with it.

SMU lost little of its glitter in the savagely played game with its aroused neighbor. It's hard to forget that the Mustangs hold the only decision over Ohio State, being acclaimed in some quarters as the best in the land.

Here's a long distance look at the bowls, subject, of course, to late November revision:

Rose and Pasadena, Calif.—California vs. Illinois.

Sugar at New Orleans—Kentucky vs. Southern Methodist.

Cotton at Dallas—Texas vs. Oklahoma.

Orange at Miami — Miami (Fla.) vs. Tennessee or Clemson.

California and Illinois put in sledgehammer licks for the rich Pasadena game with important victories Saturday.

California Surprises

Pappy Waldorf's Golden Bears flashed unexpected air might to beat favored Washington 14-7, at Seattle. It was the seventh straight conquest without defeat for the Californians.

Illinois, beaten only by Wisconsin, subdued Michigan, Big Ten co-champion, in a snowstorm at Ann Arbor, 7-0. Ohio State is ineligible to return to the coast under the conference rule that permits a team to go to the Rose Bowl only once in three years.

California has another rugged obstacle this week in up-and-coming UCLA, winner of its last three games. Illinois meets Iowa, 13-0 conqueror of Minnesota.

Unbeaten and untied Kentucky looks like a good bet to carry Dixie's banner in the Sugar Bowl against either SMU or Oklahoma. The Sooners have been New Orleans' feature attraction for the last two years and the sponsors may want a change of scenery. This would bring in the high-powered Mustangs.

Kentucky Clicks

It also probably would throw the Sooners into the Cotton or Orange bowls—most likely the Cotton because of southwest pressure for a return meeting with Texas. Oklahoma defeated Texas 14-13 Oct. 14.

Kentucky won its eighth straight game by upending Florida, 40-6, Saturday. The Wildcats, not pressed all year, play Mississippi State next.

Oklahoma stretched its string of victories to 27 by repelling Colorado, 27-18, cracking Cornell's winning record of the early twenties.

Miami is a natural for the Orange Bowl if it can maintain its unbeaten-untied pace. The Hurricanes play Louisville Friday night.

Tennessee, Clemson and Washington and Lee are other strong possibilities for the southern bowls.

Army repeatedly spurns bowl bids although there is talk the Cadets may be pressured this year into playing in the President's Cup affair, a new one, at Washington.

Bowling

Richard Howard set the scoring tempo in the Bowlodrome Mixed League and for a while it seemed that he might be heading for a "700." The man who never lets rain, slush, sleet or snow interfere with his appointed duties wound up with 623 after fashioning counts of 230-235 and 159.

Other leading scores were "Boots" Leskie's 200-575; Johnny Bechtold 212-571; Johnny Ferraro 202-205-566; Fred Rice 539; Pete Nagy 527; Sue Heins 512; Bill Murray 512; H. Schussler 514; B. McLaughlin 500.

Only two pins off the coveted "600" mark, Bill Schabot pounded the maples for 213-174-211-598 in the Bowlatorium Mixed loop. Steve Leone was in the runnerup spot with 200-571; Charlie Horne had 210-545; Joe Enright 535; J. North 202-534; H. Kapreilian 528; F. Zimmerman 518; Evelyn Gross 511; J. Burns 510; M. Sabin 507 and W. Johnson 202-501.

"Red" Sangi, the pre-war Seabiscuit of the bowling lanes, and Mary Daniels were the leading performers in the Central Rec mixed circuit with 632 and 444 respectively.

Sangi put together scores of 182, 225 and 225, while Mrs. Daniels shot 145-142-157-444. Joe Sangi made it a family affair by finishing second to "Red" with 219-564. Don Herzog had 223-532; R. Lawrence 517, Don Peterson 511; Ken Radel 509; O. Van Alstyne and Fred Buchanan 506 and F. Grimaldi 500.

Trailways Game From League Lead

Adirondack Trailways moved to within a game of first place in the Hudson Valley Bowling League Sunday by sweeping their set against the Middletown Franks at the Bowlodrome.

With Fred Rice setting the pace with 648, via 215-203-231, the Trailways pounded out 2990 via 995, 980 and 1015. Angie Ferraro shot 216-200-203-619 and Johnny Ferraro had 201-208-603. John Gesch led the Taverns with 212-592.

Frank "Tarz" Spada's 199-182-221-602 triple led Miron Lumber to a 2-1 decision over the Bennett Roofers in Middletown. Charlie Manfro's 214-200-589 and Ken Joseph's 584 also aided the Lumberjacks. Top man for Bennetts was J. Congolosi with 215-596. Johnny Ellis also aided with a 200-212-412 double.

Elston's Sport Shop grabbed a game from the high flying New Paltz trundlers on the New Paltz lanes, as Dick Howard set the pace with 208-204-583. Gene Kelly socked 211-194-210-615 for the home keglers.

The Ruzzo Bowlatorium won a game at Walden but the scores were not reported in time for publication.

Kemmerer Blasts 279 in Mid-Hudson

Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer rolled a new high single of 279 for the Saturday night Mid-Hudson Classic in the opening game of the Trailway-Middletown match on the Bowlodrome lanes.

Prized Open Jump Still Undecided

By JOHN CHANDLER

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—With half a dozen horses still in the running, the Prized Open jumping championship of the 62nd National Horse Show probably won't be decided until tomorrow, the final night of the show. However, the Millarden Farms of Annville, Pa., has a triple threat toward the title.

Injun Joe, a smart jumping Palomino gelding from that stable went into a tie for the lead in the open jumping division by winning the $250 triple bar event last night.

This gave Injun Joe, ridden by Pat Dixon, a tie with Circus Rose, Virginia's chief title contender, from the Hi-Rock Farm, Warrenton. Both horses have 13 points toward the crown, with two events left—one today, and the final open class tomorrow.

Only one point back of the leaders is Black Watch, owned by Mrs. Don J. Ferraro, New York. Also in the hot scramble are Prince River, owned by Fred Blum of Brooklyn, N. Y., and My Goodness and All Afire, the defending open champion. The last two are Millarden Farms horses

Yanks and Browns Lead Pro Leagues

New York, Nov. 6 (AP) — The race in the National Football League is well into the stretch and both conferences today shaped up as three-team scrambles.

In the American section, the Cleveland Browns bounced back into first place, earning a hard-fought victory over the Chicago Cardinals, 10-7, yesterday. The Philadelphia Eagles were dumped into a second-place tie with the New York Giants when they lost a 9-7 thriller to the Pittsburgh Steelers. The Giants won a close one, beating the Washington Red Skins, 24-21.

Cleveland has won six games and lost two, while the Eagles and Giants holds 5-2 marks.

The Yanks, who top the National conference with a 6-1 record, took yesterday off but had nothing to enthuse over. The Los Angeles Rams and Chicago Bears, the New Yorkers' closest pursuers, both won, to tighten up the issue. The Rams whipped a stubborn team of San Francisco 49ers, 28-21, while the Bears trimmed Detroit's Lions, 35-21. Los Angeles' record now is 6-2 and the Bears', 5-2.

Forrest Griffith (41), New York Giants back, is brought down by Paul Lipscomb, Washington Redskins tackle, after six-yard gain in second period of their game at Polo Grounds. Moving in to help down the ball carrier are Washington Backs Hall Haynes (23) and Chuck Drazenovich (36) who is partly hidden at right. Giants won, 24-21.

State High Schools to Try New Cage Rule

The New York State Public High School Athletic Association will experiment with a new rule that it is hoped will insure the game being played in the same manner for the entire 32 minutes, Coach Frank LaFalce, of Highland, secretary of the state basketball committee, has announced.

The experiment is designed to circumvent the difficulties and aggravations created by the now-famous three-second rule.

The new ruling gives two shots for all fouls committee during the the last three minutes of the game unless a basket is made on the play. All fouls must be shot. If team A's second shot is missed, the ball continues in play. If it is successful, team B gains possession of the ball.

This experimental ruling replaces the old regulations which gave one shot for all fouls during the last three minutes. If the fouls were deliberate or made during the act of shooting, however, two shots were awarded. Under the old ruling, foul shots could be waived.

Coaches Accept

A questionnaire was sent out by the state basketball committee to all public high school basketball coaches to determine whether they would prefer to retain the original ruling or would be interested in trying the experimental regulations. The response showed an overwhelming desire on the part of the coaches in the ten state sections to try the experiment.

The basketball committee believes the new rule will cause the game to be played in the same manner for the entire 32 minutes. It will also remove the responsibility for intent or deliberate fouling from the officials and tend to promote cleaner play in the last part of the game. Both teams will have a fair chance in relation to their previous 29 minutes to play. This experiment is an attempt to find the best solution to the so-called game ending rule.

The new experimental ruling must be observed by all public high schools in the ten sections of New York state. It covers all public high school games against public, private, parochial, and out of state teams, including junior varsity games.

Rule In Detail

The complete text of the experimental rule as follows:

1. After five minutes of playing time has elapsed in the fourth quarter, and the clock is stopped for any game condition, timers must notify officials of same, and the so-called experimental three-minute rules is in effect.

2. All personal fouls during remaining time will be two shot fouls. All fouls must be attempted. If second foul shot is missed, ball continues in play; of made, team B's ball out of bounds. In the event of overtime play, rule continues for entire period.

(a) Double fouls will be treated in accordance with rule—two foul shots for each man, followed by center jump.

(b) Multiple fouls: All fouls will be recorded on scorebook against offending players—offended player will receive only two foul shots.

(c) Flagrant foul committed on player in act of shooting: If basket is made—basket counts plus two foul shots for offended player.

3. All scorers are instructed to use red pencil or ink while experimental rule is in effect, so that a contrasting color will show on the scorebook and help coaches, basketball committee and National Rules committee determine effect of the rule on the game.

4. All officials and officiating boards operating in the 10 sections of New York state are to be notified of said experiments so that no misunderstanding may result.

5. Any game played under any arrangement or agreement by any NYSPHS basketball team other than, the outlined experimental rule will not be considered an official game by the NYSPHSAA and thus may bar a team from sectional tournaments and other privileges afforded by the association.

Princeton Class Of Ivy League

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Thanks to a pair of upsets, the Ivy League football scramble shaped up as a private match between mighty Princeton and Pennsylvania today.

Columbia and Dartmouth put the damper on Cornell and Yale hopes Saturday. The Lions downed Cornell, defending champ, 20-19, in the final minutes and Dartmouth stopped the Bulldogs, 7-0.

Meanwhile, Princeton's unbeaten and untied machine rolled to a 45-7 triumph over Colgate in a non-league game and Penn went down, 28-13, before Army's unbeaten powerhouse in another contest outside the circuit.

Princeton and Penn are tied for the top with 2-0 records. Dartmouth is third at 2-1 and Cornell, Yale and Columbia are tied for fourth with 2-2 marks.

The Tigers take on hapless Harvard at Princeton this Saturday while Penn entertains equally unimpressive Brown. After Harvard, Princeton meets Yale and Dartmouth. Penn clashes with Cornell in their traditional game at Philadelphia on Nov. 25.

Columbia edged Cornell on a late touchdown by Howard Hansen and conversion by Al Ward.

Johnny Clayton set up Dartmouth's touchdown just before he bowed out with a leg injury in the first period. He completed a pass to Vince Marriott on the Yale four and a minute later Bob Tyler charged over for the lone score.

In other games, Brown bowed to Rutgers, 15-12, and Harvard dropped a 26-7 decision to Holy Cross. Both were non-league affairs.

Yale is idle this week while Dartmouth meets Columbia and Cornell takes on Colgate.

Orange Bowl Sold Out

Miami, Fla., Nov. 6 (AP)—The football game in the Orange Bowl on January 1 is all sold out—although nobody knows the teams that will be playing. Exactly 12,-7 tickets were offered to the public yesterday. They were snapped up by 3,500 eager fans in just two hours and 15 minutes. Several hundred got tickets the hard way, waiting in line up to 19 hours to make their purchases, playing and talking through a chilly night that saw temperaures dip to 56 degrees.

Syracuse Cagers Top Lakers, 90-87

(By The Associated Press)

The Syracuse Nationals today were right back where they stood at the close of business of the National Basketball Association last season—atop the Eastern Division.

The Nats turned back the most feared team in the loop, the Minneapolis Lakers, 90-87, last night. With three minutes to play, the Nats led 87-71. But their big men were on the sidelines through personal fouls, and the Lakers rebounded.

George Mikan, as usual, led the scoring parade with 29 points. Bob Seymour was top man for the Nationals with 18 markers.

The much-improved Tri-City Blackhawks defeated the New York Knickerbockers, 98-95, in an overtime period. The Hawks connected for six field goals in the extra period, while the Knicks could produce only three.

Vince Boryla, with 35 points, was high for the New Yorkers, while Dike Eddleman's 18 led the winners.

In the only other game, the Fort Wayne Pistons, squeezed by the Indianapolis Olympians, 68-63. The defeat was the Olympians' third straight. Alex Groza, with 30 points, and Larry Foust, with 20, were the game's high scorers.

If placed end to end, the highways of the United States would encircle the world more than 122 times.

Milestone in a Career!

We see it happen over and over again—and it's one of the greatest satisfactions we enjoy in this happy business of selling Cadillac cars.

It's when a man comes into possession of his first Cadillac—and we witness the wonderful, wonderful things it does for him.

We see his happiness as he places his order—not as the result of a sudden inspiration, but because he has gradually reached the conclusion that he has earned the right to the unquestioned best. A Cadillac buyer has his mind made up when he starts to move.

And then we see him on that happy day when his car is available for delivery—and he settles himself so proudly behind the wheel.

He's a little quizzical, we sometimes note. Could it be, he wonders, that he's anticipating a bit too much?

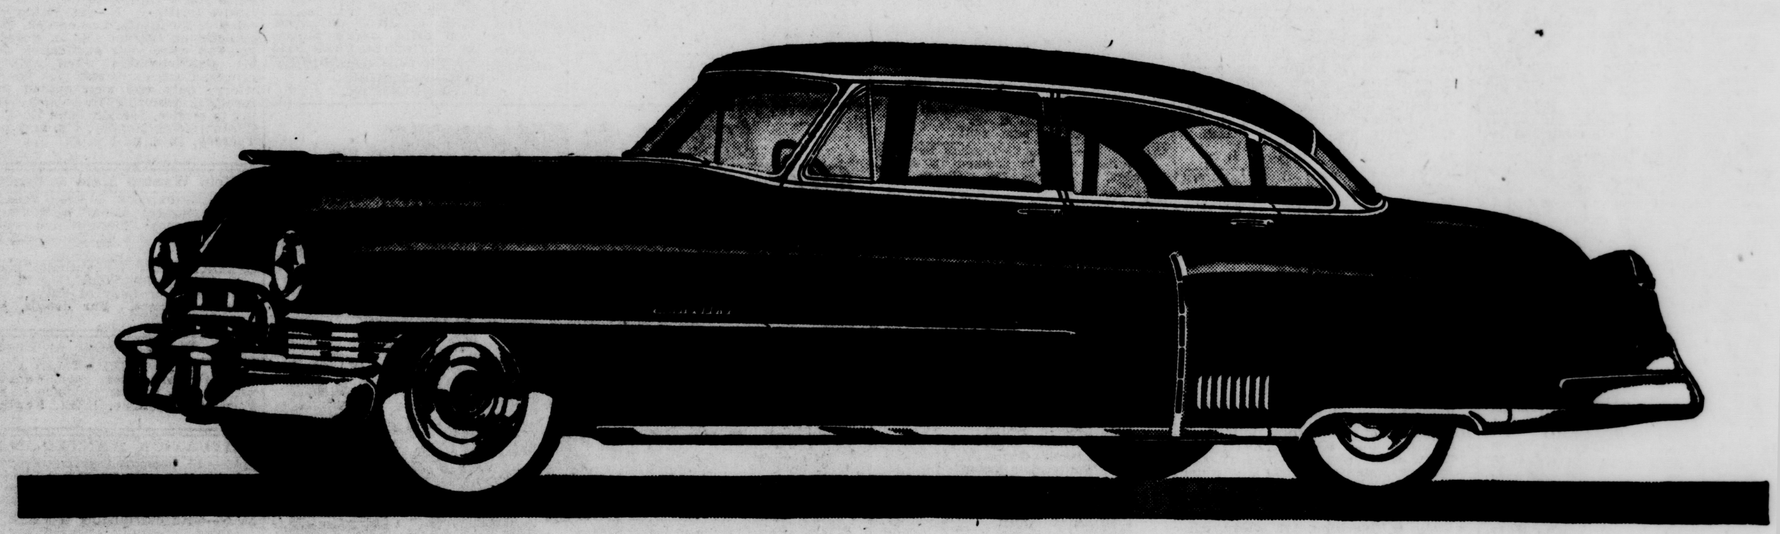

And then he's out in the street—headed for home the long way 'round. There are some things a man wants to try for himself—with no one near to watch him!

Those are thrilling days that follo[illegible].

There's the first long ride with the family . . . the first trip to the office, with a waiting delegation to admire his choice . . . and there's the time he learns, in an emergency, that his car is worth its whole price in safety alone.

And then, almost before he knows it, the odometer registers a thousand miles—and he's back to tell us all about it. And, perhaps, to grumble a little bit at giving it up for a checking over. It's hard to part from a great new love, even for a little while!

Yes, it's a priceless privilege to watch all this. Makes a man feel that he's doing good.

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Thanks to a pair of upsets, the Ivy League football scramble shaped up as a private match between mighty Princeton and Pennsylvania today.

Columbia and Dartmouth put the damper on Cornell and Yale hopes Saturday. The Lions downed Cornell, defending champ, 20-19, in the final minutes and Dartmouth stopped the Bulldogs, 7-0.

Meanwhile, Princeton's unbeaten and untied machine rolled to a 45-7 triumph over Colgate in a non-league game and Penn went down, 28-13, before Army's unbeaten powerhouse in another contest outside the circuit.

Princeton and Penn are tied for the top with 2-0 records. Dartmouth is third at 2-1 and Cornell, Yale and Columbia are tied for fourth with 2-2 marks.

The Tigers take on hapless Harvard at Princeton this Saturday while Penn entertains equally unimpressive Brown. After Harvard, Princeton meets Yale and Dartmouth. Penn clashes with Cornell in their traditional game at Philadelphia on Nov. 25.

Columbia edged Cornell on a late touchdown by Howard Hansen and conversion by Al Ward.

Johnny Clayton set up Dartmouth's touchdown just before he bowed out with a leg injury in the first period. He completed a pass to Vince Marriott on the Yale four and a minute later Bob Tyler charged over for the lone score.

In other games, Brown bowed to Rutgers, 15-12, and Harvard dropped a 26-7 decision to Holy Cross. Both were non-league affairs.

Yale is idle this week while Dartmouth meets Columbia and Cornell takes on Colgate.

Correct Four Days

A sun dial shows the correct time only four times a year, in April, June, September, and December, but it can never be wrong by more than 16 minutes and 22 seconds.

Orange Bowl Sold Out

Miami, Fla., Nov. 6 (AP)—The football game in the Orange Bowl on January 1 is all sold out—although nobody knows the teams that will be playing. Exactly 12,-7 tickets were offered to the public yesterday. They were snapped up by 3,500 eager fans in just two hours and 15 minutes. Several hundred got tickets the hard way, waiting in line up to 19 hours to make their purchases, playing and talking through a chilly night that saw temperaures dip to 56 degrees.

Syracuse Cagers Top Lakers, 90-87

(By The Associated Press)

The Syracuse Nationals today were right back where they stood at the close of business of the National Basketball Association last season—atop the Eastern Division.

The Nats turned back the most feared team in the loop, the Minneapolis Lakers, 90-87, last night. With three minutes to play, the Nats led 87-71. But their big men were on the sidelines through personal fouls, and the Lakers rebounded.

George Mikan, as usual, led the scoring parade with 29 points. Bob Seymour was top man for the Nationals with 18 markers.

The much-improved Tri-City Blackhawks defeated the New York Knickerbockers, 98-95, in an overtime period. The Hawks connected for six field goals in the extra period, while the Knicks could produce only three.

Vince Boryla, with 35 points, was high for the New Yorkers, while Dike Eddleman's 18 led the winners.

In the only other game, the Fort Wayne Pistons, squeezed by the Indianapolis Olympians, 68-63. The defeat was the Olympians' third straight. Alex Groza, with 30 points, and Larry Foust, with 20, were the game's high scorers.

If placed end to end, the highways of the United States would encircle the world more than 122 times.

Milestone in a Career!

We see it happen over and over again—and it's one of the greatest satisfactions we enjoy in this happy business of selling Cadillac cars.

It's when a man comes into possession of his first Cadillac—and we witness the wonderful, wonderful things it does for him.

We see his happiness as he places his order—not as the result of a sudden inspiration, but because he has gradually reached the conclusion that he has earned the right to the unquestioned best. A Cadillac buyer has his mind made up when he starts to move.

And then we see him on that happy day when his car is available for delivery—and he settles himself so proudly behind the wheel.

He's a little quizzical, we sometimes note. Could it be, he wonders, that he's anticipating a bit too much?

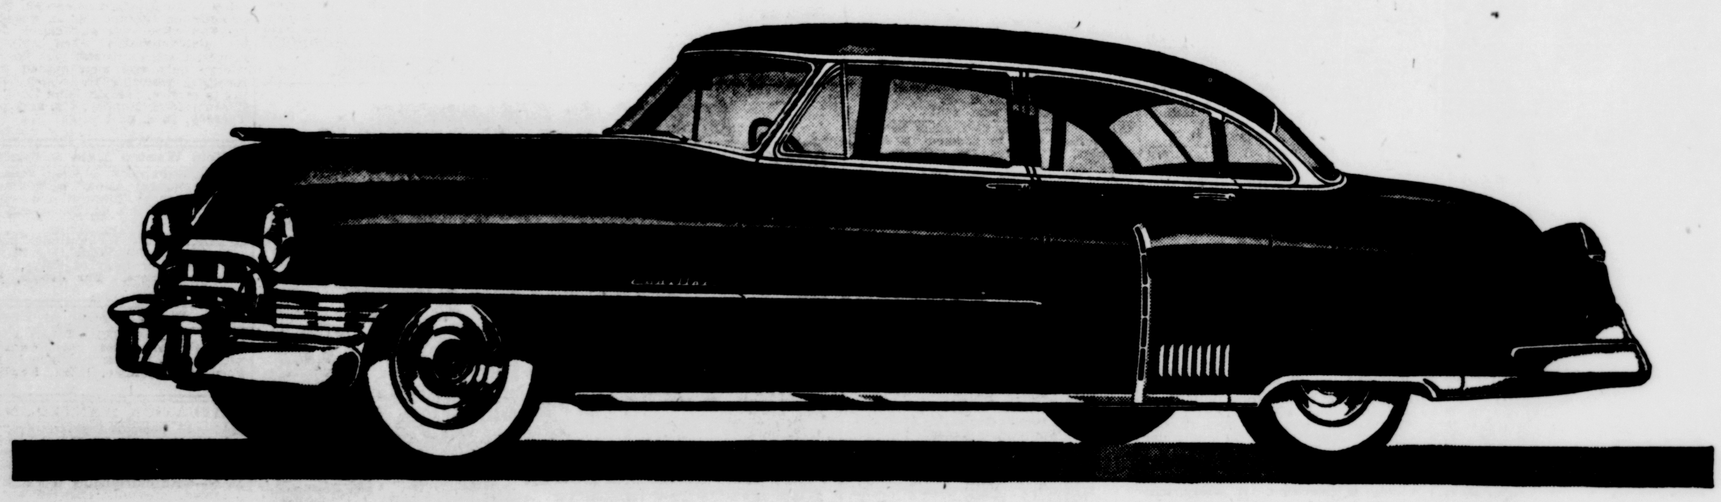

And then he's out in the street—headed for home the long way 'round. There are some things a man wants to try for himself—with no one near to watch him!

Those are thrilling days that follo[illegible].

There's the first long ride with the family . . . the first trip to the office, with a waiting delegation to admire his choice . . . and there's the time he learns, in an emergency, that his car is worth its whole price in safety alone.

And then, almost before he knows it, the odometer registers a thousand miles—and he's back to tell us all about it. And, perhaps, to grumble a little bit at giving it up for a checking over. It's hard to part from a great new love, even for a little while!

Yes, it's a priceless privilege to watch all this. Makes a man feel that he's doing good.

CAUGHT IN HIS OWN ZIPPER SCHEME—Elliot Rose, sales manager for a zipper manufacturer, was nabbed by New York City police after he created a riot by throwing hundreds of dollar bills attached to zippers out of a hotel window as an advertising stunt. In no time, an uncontrollable mob was pushing and grabbing for the bills.

4 Mayoral Candidates Meet for TV Interview

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The four candidates in the mayoral race—bitterest in years—met peacefully for a few minutes yesterday on Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's television interview program.

Within hours they were at each other's throats again.

The candidates are: Ferdinand Pecora, Democrat; Vincent Impellitteri, Independent; Edward Corsi, Republican, and Paul Ross, American Labor.

The Daily News predicted election of Impellitteri tomorrow on the basis of a 15,000-ballot straw vote. Other late developments included:

James A. Farley, former national and state Democratic chairman, endorsed Impellitteri.

Former Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis came out for Impellitteri "as a sincere fighter."

Pecora arrived for a television debate at Station WPIX last night, but walked out in a huff when he found Impellitteri and Corsi represented only by proxies. Corsi showed up a few minutes later, but not until after Pecora accused both rivals of "lack of courage."

Impellitteri, claiming Pecora was stirring up racial and national prejudice against him, said Pecora is "not fit to be elected dog-catcher of New York."

Corsi, predicting his own election, called his rivals "political fakes" and repeated his charge that both Impellitteri and Pecora are Tammany candidates.

Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy last night ordered the entire force of more than 19,000 police on emergency duty for 44 hours starting at 8 o'clock tonight to guard against election fraud and violence. More than 700 hoodlum suspects have been arrested in the last two weeks.

Funeral Services Today For Old Pete Alexander

St. Paul, Nebr., Nov. 6 (AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, the renowned pitcher of three decades ago, will be buried today in the peaceful surroundings of a little cemetery just southwest of here.

Alexander, who tied a major league pitching record with 373 victories in 696 games, died Saturday at the age of 63 of a heart ailment. He had been in failing health for more than a year.

Alexander broke into baseball with the Philadelphia Phillies, winning 28 games for them his first year. Besides the Phils, he played with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs during his major league career which covered 19 years, from 1911 to 1930.

4 Mayoral Candidates Meet for TV Interview

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The four candidates in the mayoral race—bitterest in years—met peacefully for a few minutes yesterday on Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's television interview program.

Within hours they were at each other's throats again.

The candidates are: Ferdinand Pecora, Democrat; Vincent Impellitteri, Independent; Edward Corsi, Republican, and Paul Ross, American Labor.

The Daily News predicted election of Impellitteri tomorrow on the basis of a 15,000-ballot straw vote. Other late developments included:

James A. Farley, former national and state Democratic chairman, endorsed Impellitteri.

Former Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis came out for Impellitteri "as a sincere fighter."

Pecora arrived for a television debate at Station WPIX last night, but walked out in a huff when he found Impellitteri and Corsi represented only by proxies. Corsi showed up a few minutes later, but not until after Pecora accused both rivals of "lack of courage."

Impellitteri, claiming Pecora was stirring up racial and national prejudice against him, said Pecora is "not fit to be elected dog-catcher of New York."

Corsi, predicting his own election, called his rivals "political fakes" and repeated his charge that both Impellitteri and Pecora are Tammany candidates.

Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy last night ordered the entire force of more than 19,000 police on emergency duty for 44 hours starting at 8 o'clock tonight to guard against election fraud and violence. More than 700 hoodlum suspects have been arrested in the last two weeks.

Election Has All Connecticut Guessing

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6 (AP)—Connecticut ballots tomorrow in an election which has everybody guessing.

For topflight leaders anxious about the makeup of the next congress, of chief concern is the verdict an electorate of more than 1,000,000 voters will give in the fight for two Senate seats.

Both are now held by Democrats. Fighting to retain them are Senator Brian McMahon, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, and Senator William Benton, once in charge of the State Department's "Voice of America" program.

Their respective Republican rivals are Ex-Rep. Joseph T. Talbot and Prescott Bush, investment banker.

Through weeks of hard-hitting campaigning on such issues as Korea, Communism and the atom bomb, both sides have stressed the theme that with the two Connecticut seats may go control of the next Senate.

But for many Connecticut voters, the fight which has commanded the most attention is that for an office closer at home—the governorship.

Rivals for the job are Democratic incumbent Chester Bowles, wartime OPA chief whose name has been linked with the 1952 presidential election, and Rep. John Lodge, scion of the old Massachuetts Lodge family.

The governorship will be a four instead of a two-year office.

Two Are Injured

Two persons were slightly injured in a minor traffic mishap at Broadway and O'Reilly street early Sunday. The police report at 3:31 a. m., said a car operated by William A. Pastow, 35, of High Falls, and one driven by John C. Casciaro, 25, of 387 Clifton avenue, both headed north on Broadway, were in collision at the intersection. Casciaro suffered an injury of the right knee and Aldo Broglio, 55, suffered shock, the report said.

Probe Rock Throwing

Marion Dempsey of Port Ewen notified the sheriff's office Saturday night that men were throwing rocks at her 17-year-old daughter. It was stated the men had started walking toward Kingston and the Kingston police were asked to cover the Rondout creek bridge in the even they attempted to cross the bridge. County Investigated Clayton W. Vredenburgh is making an investigation.

Rubbish Fire

Firemen were called at 2:09 p. m. Sunday to check a rubbish fire to the rear of the Broadway Theatre on Cedar street.

To Address United Church Canvassers On Thursday Night

VERNON K. HOOVER

Vernon K. Hoover, assistant to the general secretary of United Promotion for the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., will be the speaker at a dinner meeting Thursday, Nov. 9, for workers on the United Church Canvass in this city.

The dinner will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church at 6:30 p. m. Men who will canvass memberships of 13 cooperating Protestant churches to raise money for their own church's budget will attend the dinner, with their wives or guests. About 300 persons are expected.

Hoover has been a leader in developing the effective program of united support to the every member canvass. The program utilizes tested business methods in this phase of church work.

At Two Pastorates

For 10 years before entering the ministry, he was employed in the engineering department of a Baltimore, Md., manufacturing concern. Active in church as a layman, he was for several years successively moderator of the young people's Westminster Fellowship of Baltimore Presbytery and the Baltimore synod.

After deciding to enter the ministry, Hoover received his B.S. degree from Johns Hopkins University, and B.D. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary. He has served two pastorates, one in Baltimore and the other in Clinton, N. J.

Hoover's topic will be "Soldiers of Christ, Arise." The talk will stress spiritual understanding of the work of a church and the stewardship theme, and will not be limited to the financial aspects of the annual drive.

United Church Canvass is an organization through which churches can unite their promotional efforts for the annual budget pledge drive. However, each individual church seeks funds and pledges only for its own budget.

Area churches participating are Ponckhockie Congregational, Rondout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist, First Presbyterian, Fair Street Reformed, Reformed Church of the Comforter, Bloomington Reformed, Hurley Reformed, Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, First Dutch Reformed, Clinton Avenue Methodist, St. John's Episcopal, Trinity Lutheran and St. James Methodist.

Harding in Hospital

Henry Harding, Jr., 25, of 15 East Union street, was taken to Kingston Hospital late last night, after he had consumed a harmful liquid, according to the police. Officers Charles Hoehing and George Loughran were sent on a call to Abeel street at 11:59 p. m., following a report that someone had taken "Iodine and Lysol." The physician who treated him, however, said the type of liquid had not been determined. His condition was reported as "good" today at the hospital.

Meeting Is Held

An all-day work meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary was held on Nov. 3, following the regular monthly meeting, at which time articles were completed for the fair scheduled on Nov. 4. Plans were also made to serve a cafeteria supper open to the public.

White Plains Gets Stichman Sanction For More Housing

New York, Nov. 6—State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman over the week-end authorized the White Plains Housing Authority to accept the low bids for the construction of the second section of $5,500,000 Winbrook Apartments.

The bids for the 180-apartment second section state-aided project in White Plains will result in a construction cost of $8,548 per apartment, which is, Commissioner Stichman said, $271 per apartment lower than bids awarded in February, 1949 for construction of the first section of the development. The entire project will house 450 low income families at rents under $9 a room monthly, including heat, light and gas. The state-aided housing project is eligible to receive up to $159,900 in state cash subsidies each year to keep rentals low.

The development is one of the 56 low rent public housing projects in Governor Thomas E. Dewey's present $735,000,000 state-wide community development and housing program which will eventually house 300,000 persons.

Typographical Union Says 'No'

stereotypers, electricians, pressmen, typographers, and photoengravers.

The "Big Six" membership meeting turned down the proposal by a vote of 747 to 585.

The voting climaxed 15 months of combined negotiations between the publishers and all nine craft unions — the first of their kind held.

These AFL unions accepted the proposal:

Local 1, New York Photo-Engravers, by 141 in favor, 93 opposed; Local 3 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, unanimous; Local 1, Paper Handlers and Straighteners Union, unanimous; Local 1, New York Stereotypers, unanimous; Local 6, New York Mailers Union, 2259 in favor, 70 opposed.

The "package" was presented to these unions in a different manner, however.

The union leadership exercised an option provided in the mediator's proposal, which was to take the $1.50 welfare fund contribution as an immediate pay raise, rather than have it paid into the welfare fund.

Thus, these unions voted on a $5 weekly pay boost—all in cash—plus another two dollar raise next year with no welfare fund contribution included.

The mediator's proposal also provided an improved vacation clause, vacation credits for deceased and discharged members, an additional week's pay in the event a publication is merged or ceases publication, and an improved priority preference clause.

Other unions still to vote on the proposal are the AFL New York Printing Pressmen's Union and two independent unions, the International Association of Machinists and the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union.

Newspapers involved are the New York Times, The Herald Tribune, The Daily News, The Daily Mirror, The Journal-American, The World Telegram and Sun, The Post. The Brooklyn Eagle, The Long Island Star Journal, The Long Island Daily Press, The Wall Street Journal, and the Journal of Commerce.

Election Has All Connecticut Guessing

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6 (AP)—Connecticut ballots tomorrow in an election which has everybody guessing.

For topflight leaders anxious about the makeup of the next congress, of chief concern is the verdict an electorate of more than 1,000,000 voters will give in the fight for two Senate seats.

Both are now held by Democrats. Fighting to retain them are Senator Brian McMahon, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, and Senator William Benton, once in charge of the State Department's "Voice of America" program.

Their respective Republican rivals are Ex-Rep. Joseph T. Talbot and Prescott Bush, investment banker.

Through weeks of hard-hitting campaigning on such issues as Korea, Communism and the atom bomb, both sides have stressed the theme that with the two Connecticut seats may go control of the next Senate.

But for many Connecticut voters, the fight which has commanded the most attention is that for an office closer at home—the governorship.

Rivals for the job are Democratic incumbent Chester Bowles, wartime OPA chief whose name has been linked with the 1952 presidential election, and Rep. John Lodge, scion of the old Massachuetts Lodge family.

The governorship will be a four instead of a two-year office.

Two Are Injured

Two persons were slightly injured in a minor traffic mishap at Broadway and O'Reilly street early Sunday. The police report at 3:31 a. m., said a car operated by William A. Pastow, 35, of High Falls, and one driven by John C. Casciaro, 25, of 387 Clifton avenue, both headed north on Broadway, were in collision at the intersection. Casciaro suffered an injury of the right knee and Aldo Broglio, 55, suffered shock, the report said.

Probe Rock Throwing

Marion Dempsey of Port Ewen notified the sheriff's office Saturday night that men were throwing rocks at her 17-year-old daughter. It was stated the men had started walking toward Kingston and the Kingston police were asked to cover the Rondout creek bridge in the even they attempted to cross the bridge. County Investigated Clayton W. Vredenburgh is making an investigation.

Rubbish Fire

Firemen were called at 2:09 p. m. Sunday to check a rubbish fire to the rear of the Broadway Theatre on Cedar street.

To Address United Church Canvassers On Thursday Night

VERNON K. HOOVER

Vernon K. Hoover, assistant to the general secretary of United Promotion for the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., will be the speaker at a dinner meeting Thursday, Nov. 9, for workers on the United Church Canvass in this city.

The dinner will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church at 6:30 p. m. Men who will canvass memberships of 13 cooperating Protestant churches to raise money for their own church's budget will attend the dinner, with their wives or guests. About 300 persons are expected.

Hoover has been a leader in developing the effective program of united support to the every member canvass. The program utilizes tested business methods in this phase of church work.

At Two Pastorates

For 10 years before entering the ministry, he was employed in the engineering department of a Baltimore, Md., manufacturing concern. Active in church as a layman, he was for several years successively moderator of the young people's Westminster Fellowship of Baltimore Presbytery and the Baltimore synod.

After deciding to enter the ministry, Hoover received his B.S. degree from Johns Hopkins University, and B.D. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary. He has served two pastorates, one in Baltimore and the other in Clinton, N. J.

Hoover's topic will be "Soldiers of Christ, Arise." The talk will stress spiritual understanding of the work of a church and the stewardship theme, and will not be limited to the financial aspects of the annual drive.

United Church Canvass is an organization through which churches can unite their promotional efforts for the annual budget pledge drive. However, each individual church seeks funds and pledges only for its own budget.

Area churches participating are Ponckhockie Congregational, Rondout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist, First Presbyterian, Fair Street Reformed, Reformed Church of the Comforter, Bloomington Reformed, Hurley Reformed, Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, First Dutch Reformed, Clinton Avenue Methodist, St. John's Episcopal, Trinity Lutheran and St. James Methodist.

Harding in Hospital

Henry Harding, Jr., 25, of 15 East Union street, was taken to Kingston Hospital late last night, after he had consumed a harmful liquid, according to the police. Officers Charles Hoehing and George Loughran were sent on a call to Abeel street at 11:59 p. m., following a report that someone had taken "Iodine and Lysol." The physician who treated him, however, said the type of liquid had not been determined. His condition was reported as "good" today at the hospital.

Meeting Is Held
